UNEMPLOYMENT CONFERENCE MEMBERS NAMED

35 Men, Three Women Send Acceptance To Harding

HOOVER, DAVIS ARE ON LIST

Believe President Will Open Session At Capital

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Announcement of the names of thirty five men and three women who have accepted President Harding's invitation to participate in a national unemployment conference here beginning next Monday was made tonight by Secretary Hoover. Other names will be announced later, he said, when all replies are received.

The list includes Secretaries Hoover and Davis; Julius Barnes of Duluth, Minn.; Samuel Gompers, Chas. M. Schwab and John L. Lewis of the mine workers. The women are Ida Tarbell of New York, Mary Van Kleeck of New York, connected with the Russel Sage foundation and Elizabeth Prishman of Chicago, an officer of the National Womans Trade Union League.

Mr. Hoover has been appointed chairman of the conference, which, it was said, would at once dissolve itself, into special committees for the formulation of plans. These committees, he asserted, would no doubt seek cooperation from other representatives of labor, employers and civic bodies.

In arriving at a policy for providing employment, Mr. Hoover said the conference would avoid any charity arrangements.

It was considered probable that President Harding would open the conference with an address outlining the administration's desire to remedy unemployment.

"In naming members of the conference," Mr. Hoover said, "it has been the desire of the President to secure geographic representation and have regard to the different elements who are interested and can be helpful in the problem without an attempt at proportional numbers of particular groups. Those of experience in those industries where there is the largest degree in unemployment have been called in larger proportion than from trades where there is less employment. It was impossible to include representation of the whole of some fifty trade groups in the conference and hold its size within workable limits."

An economic advisory committee of twenty was appointed and Mr. Hoover stated, has been at work on the preparation of data and a working program. Secretary Davis also has been co-operating in formulating plans, he said, and has been directing a renewed survey of unemployment.

The conference, Mr. Hoover continued, was expected to get to work quickly so that the administration might be prepared to combat unemployment before winter. The President's invitations, he said, stated that "the conference is called to inquire into the volume of unemployment, to advise upon emergency measures that can be properly taken by employers, local authorities and civic bodies and to consider measures as would tend to give impulse to the recovery of business and commerce to normal."

TWO ARE HELD FOR ROBBERY

Wounded Men Taken By Police

VANCOUVER, Wash., Sept. 19.—Two wounded men, Bert Orcutt, 38, and Jay Moore, 37, were in custody of the sheriff here today, accused of connection with the robbery of a Sells Floto circus money truck Friday night, and authorities were trying to locate a third man, or possibly a woman dressed in man's clothing, who was suspected of being the third member of a gang which committed the holdup. Orcutt and Moore were arrested early yesterday afternoon when they attempted to get a cache of the stolen money at Lacenter, near here. They were shot as they tried to run away. All the loot was recovered.

Officers were also holding Mrs. Jay Moore, Miss Christine Grosse, and two children of the Moore's, Fiarine, aged 13 and Edna, four, who were in the automobile in which the two men drove to the cache. Members of the party said they were from Seattle.

The cache was discovered by a farmer Saturday and he notified officers who lay in wait until the auto party arrived at 2:30 a. m. yesterday.

The children, the party, apparently knowing nothing of the $30,000 robbery, told the officers that they left Seattle early Saturday afternoon, their parents telling them they were going to motor to California to live.

Conditions In India Reported Serious

LONDON, Sept. 19.—Official investigation of conditions in India show that the situation is more serious than was at first believed. The military forces sent into the troubled district of the Malabar coast are experiencing difficulty owing to the rebels and the nature of the country.

It was said the insurgents, of whom five bodies are known to exist, control certain areas and that immediate re-establishment of authority is impossible.

Women and children in famine stricken area in Russia line up every day at the American relief station at Baranowice to receive their portion of the food allotted for their aid.

DECLARE JAPAN SHOULD ADHERE TO 21 DEMANDS

Political Body Says Ultimatum To China Impossible

Hold Agreements Have Been Cancelled With Japan

TOKYO, Sept. 9.—(By The Associated Press.)—Japan should adhere to the 21 demands she sent to China and should insist upon an agreement in all the other engagements of that country, says a resolution passed by the political committee of the kensei-kai, or opposition party, M. Wakatsuki, premier, and members of the party and member of the Okuma cabinet, which concluded the treaty embodying the 21 demands, in a statement defending that convention, declared that if Japan had territorial ambitions she could have seized part of China during the war instead of arranging a treaty designed to secure the economic development of China and Japan.

"An ultimatum to China is unavoidable," the statement declares, "because China has cancelled matters previously agreed to. Despite the denunciation of the treaty abroad, it was the means of preserving peace in the Far East."

Japan in principle is ready for a complete examination of all affairs connected with China according to information reaching the Associated Press. Responsible Japanese declare that all trade and other engagements or commitments are included, providing such engagements affect the interest of other powers in China. Japan is willing, it is said, in the same quarter, for examination for the "21 demands" agreement, provided its validity is not questioned, and argument is not raised that the treaty was consummated by force.

It is understood Japan would insist, under the provisions of that treaty, on the right to renew leases in South Manchuria.

"Our great aim," said one Japanese, "is the securing of the opening of all China for trade and residence, so that our people and other peoples may do business in the interior. If China is thrown open like Japan, this country, for one, would not find it necessary to secure leased territories in which to engage in the commerce so necessary to our growing population."

He insisted, so far as the interior of China was concerned, that western lands had one great advantage over Japan because of the rights accorded Christian missionaries who, he said, spread the influence of the west, including the United States, while the Japanese, as a non-Christian people, have no missionary privileges. As an indication of Japan's good faith, he cited the action of the country in handing over to the Chinese consortium previously acquired loan rights in Manchuria and Mongolia, while the latest proposals regarding Shantung, which also figured in the twenty-one demands agreement, showed Japan was reasonable.

60,000 Spaniards Are In Melilla

MELILLA, Morocco, Sept. 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Spanish troops concentrated in the Melilla region for operations against rebellious Moroccan tribesmen number approximately 60,000. All branches of the service are rapidly becoming settled to the hardships of campaigning and to the shells and bullets constantly flying. Frequent night marches as supporting columns to supply parties, consisting mostly of members of the Foreign Legion and native troops have instilled the most recently arrived Spanish troops with the necessary alertness for fighting among the rocky and pathless hills.

The number of Moroccans in the hills around Gouraigan apparently has been reduced and they now are estimated to number only 500 determined fighters. Natives say that Abd-El-Krim, the Moroccan chieftain, after offering as much resistance as possible in the Gouraigan area does not intend to make another stand until the Spaniards reach the neighborhood of Annual where he has his headquarters.

'Slave Auction' Of Unemployed Is Abandoned

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Urbain Ledoux announced abandonment of his plan to hold a "slave auction" of the unemployed tonight after police had disbursed a crowd of his followers in Bryant Park and prevented him from distributing food to the jobless.

He said his auction would not be necessary, because the "high handed interference of the police will cause the wrath of public opinion to make right the present situation in New York."

He appeared first at Cooper Square with a wagon of buns for the hungry but the police ordered him to move on. He returned the buns to the bakery at the police orders, but charged he could not get his money back.

Walking to Bryant Park he was greeted by scores of men, who accompanied him to a hall he had rented. Police barred the way and told him to move along. A crowd of more than five thousand, it was estimated, then assembled.

Police reserves and detectives dispersed the crowd.

EXETER MAN IS ELECTROCUTED

Body Sent To Home In Arkansas

Special to The Republican.

EXETER, Sept. 19.—Funeral services were held here today for Harold L. Cravenscraft, 24, one of the proprietors of the Exeter Electrical Company, who was instantly killed Saturday afternoon when he came in contact with a live wire while installing a Buttype machine at the office of the Exeter Sun. The body was sent to Los Angeles tonight and will be forwarded to Mena, Arkansas, for burial.

Cravenscraft was alone in the office when the accident occurred, but it is supposed that he failed to pull the switch which connected the machine with outside current and picked up a live wire which resulted in his death. A coroner's inquest was held here yesterday afternoon.

Cravenscraft had no relatives here, but had a mother and sister in the East and an aunt in Los Angeles.

SUBMARINE IS IN DISTRESS

Undersea Boat Is 100 Miles From Nasaw

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 19.—A wireless message from the submarine S-47 saying she was in distress 100 miles northeast of Nasau, was received today by Ensign W. H. Klapproth, commanding the sub-chaser 154 lying here. The message was sent broadcast, it was thought.

The message telling of the submarine's plight was received this morning. No further message had been received up to a late hour.

The sub-chaser 154 was unable to respond, having rammed a hole in her bow while giving assistance to another boat last week.

Decide to Reduce Sugar Acreage

HILO, T. H., Sept. 19.—Sugar plantation managers of the island of Hawaii at a meeting here decided upon a plan to reduce the acreage planted to sugar cane, unless there is an immediate change in the labor situation. Under the plan, it was stated, the production would be decreased from 20 to 25 per cent, cutting approximately 45,000 tons from the present sugar output. The decrease would amount to about 10,000 acres, according to estimates.

TO SUBMIT TREATY.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—The treaty with Germany probably will be submitted to the Senate by President Harding very soon after Congress reassembles on Wednesday. The submission may be accompanied by a brief message.

SIMS DECLARES MARINE SPEECH WAS MISQUOTED

Denies Saying U. S. Ought Not Develop Marine

Senator Glass Asserts Statement Made To Him

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Declaring that Senator Carter Glass of Virginia was mistaken in quoting him as saying in a conversation in London that the United States ought not to undertake the development of a merchant marine of its own, Rear Admiral William S. Sims, in a letter to the National Merchant Marine association made public here today, explained that what he did say was that "with the present restriction of our present shipping laws it would be very difficult, for our country to develop a merchant marine commensurate with our needs."

The statement was in reply to a letter asking if the Admiral had been correctly quoted by the Virginia Senator in a recent speech in the Senate.

In his Senate speech Senator Glass was quoted as saying:

"When I was abroad in 1918, Admiral Sims, much to my amazement, told me in London that he did not think that the United States ought to undertake the development of a merchant marine of its own. He thought that field of activity should be left to Great Britain, saying that the British were our kinsmen, bone of our bone, blood of our blood and might be relied upon to come to our defense in case of war; and that they were natural seamen and that we know nothing about it. Besides, he added, it would require a great subsidy to conduct a merchant marine, and the American people were inherently opposed to subsidies."

"I am not surprised that Senator Glass was much amazed if he understood me to state in London that the United States ought not to undertake the development of a merchan marine o its own," the admiral wrote in reply.

"Just how far this is from what I ever have or could have thought of the merchant marine you may judge from the fact that the navy of the United States would be of very little value as a defense of the United States and our possessions if it were not for the merchant marine."

Says He Was Not Mistaken

LUNCHBURG, Va., Sept. 19—When the attention of Senator Glass was directed to the letter of Admiral Sims today he former said:

"It may be that I was mistaken in what Admiral Sims meant to say, but I was not mistaken in what he did say of general import that when Admiral Sims declined, as a final word on the subject, that the United States was traditionally opposed to a ship subsidy, I marked to him:

"So have I been ever since reading Ben Butterworth's speech in Congress forty years ago, but subsidy or no subsidy, I do not believe the American people will ever again allow their country to be caught in the fix it found itself in at the outbreak of this war.

"Two of my Congressional colleagues were present when the statement was made, and the three of us discussed the amazing nature of it after leaving the office of Admiral Sims. However, I wish it to be understood that I do not present the matter in any controversial spirit."

Admits Arson of Eight Years Ago

SALEM, Ore., Sept. 19.—Robert C. Strong, aged 25, is here after walking from Stockton, Cal., to confess, he said, that he had committed arson here eight years ago. He told the police he had become converted at a mission at Stockton and that he felt he had to come here to clear his conscience.

He said he dropped a match in some excelsior which started a fire that destroyed his brother-in-law's electrical store. He said his action had been inspired by a remark his brother-in-law had made that he wished persons with whom he was having trouble would burn him out. He said his brother-in-law never knew the origin of the fire. Officials indicated Strong may not be prosecuted.

TWO MEN SHOT AT WHILE IN OIL STRIKE ZONE

Bakersfield Realtor Is Object of Fusillade At McKittrick

BANK HEAD IS ALSO STOPPED

Declare Banker Was To Blame For Shooting

By ROBERT C. MIDDLETON.

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 19—Two reports of attempted violence by men who were said to be wearing the badges of the law and order committee of the striking union oil workers, against travelers on roads leading to Bakersfield today, tended to crystallize sentiment against the operation of the system, which is declared to be so universal and so powerful in certain sections as to transcend that of the constituted authorities.

The latest accusation came from George M. Wilkins, who with his wife and nine year old son, while near McKittrick about 8 o'clock Sunday evening, were the target for a fusillade of shots, fired by men claiming to be officers. The Wilkins family narrowly escaped being hit, the missiles striking their automobile. One bullet struck the corner of a tire, tried to "can" it, then strapped to the side of their car and was imbedded in the tonneau while another penetrated a new cord tire on the rear wheel, Wilkins said.

Wilkins, who is manager of the Central Real Estate company, was returning from a two months' vacation trip in Yosemite park. He said the first shots were fired as he was attempting to stop and after he had been challenged by one of a road-side patrol.

Before he could stop, Wilkins asserted a number of men ran down a near-by hill firing guns, bullets striking all around the car. He estimated that a fusillade of between 25 and 30 shots were fired. When he was surrounded by the men after stopping the car, Wilkins said no explanation of their action was given. Later he said they declared they were searching for contraband liquor and wanted to know whether he had any in his car.

Wilkins asserted that none of the men exhibited stars to show they were officers, but that he noted many of them wore the red, white and blue badges or buttons of the strikers' law and order committee. He did not determine the identity of the attackers, he said.

Bank Head Shot At.

On Saturday evening while on his way to Taft, J. K. Russell, cashier of the National bank of Bakersfield, accompanied by a man named Burge, reported he was stopped five times by patrols, and around about 11 o'clock when he failed to halt at a challenge coming out of the night, the merchant marine of its own." He merchant marine of its own." He thought that field of activity should from a group of a dozen men. Russell made a report of the occurrence to the district attorney and the sheriff but obtained no satisfaction, he said yesterday. He claims a personal investigation disclosed that the men were strikers who had been deputized as deputy constables and were functioning in the dual role of strike patrol and officers.

At the oil workers' headquarters here no light could be thrown on the Wilkins' incident as no report of the affair had been received up to a late hour. In the Russell case the union officials claimed the patrol practically composed of legally qualified deputies were blameless and that the bank official had violated the law by speeding at a rate estimated at 50 miles an hour. Because of the growing criticism of the patrol system union officials have issued orders they declared, to halt only suspicious cars and not to stop machines in which women were passengers. But in the dark of night these instructions cannot be complied with and as a result virtually all cars are challenged during the course of a drive through the fields.

Conservative business men here were emphatic in their denunciation of the legal functions alleged to have been usurped by the strikers' patrols and declared they intended to take some action to remedy the situation.

They assert that the danger has arisen from a promiscuous deputizing of strikers, who are also members of the union law and order committee, and who often exercise their prerogatives as specially sworn deputy constables to enforce their demands as union patrols.

"In such hair trigger situations as has been precipitated by the oil workers' strike it is a mistake to deputize or pin a star on any person representing either of the interested parties, whether they are strikers or company representatives," said one of the business men critics of the patrol system.

Is Held Illegal

"This stopping of cars by the union patrols is also illegal, I believe, and the constituted authorities should stop it. It is an inconvenience to the traveling public, it is a usurpation of authority and will eventually lead to trouble of some sort."

E. B. DANIELS, general secretary of the district council of the oil workers, defended the patrol system and denied the operators charge of lawlessness. While admitting that in certain districts the union men occupied the dual role of strikers and officers, he said the fact that these men by the scores have been deputized by the officers of their townships is but an exhibition of the community of interest in the oil fields to prevent trouble for illicit liquor and the importation of strike breaking men mean just that trouble.

"We will continue to stop suspicious cars and to attempt to cause interested strike-breakers to turn back, and to turn illicit liquor runners over to the authorities. I realize there has been some criticism but up to now it has been only the matter of challenging the pri-

JAPANESE METHODS IN FAR EAST SHOW MUCH VERSATILITY

Ruthless Military Acts In Siberia Create Undying Hatred

By CHASE S. OSBORN JR.

Methods which the Japanese government has employed in order to clamp its grip upon certain sections of Asia constitute one of the most sordid chapters in Oriental history, a history which contains a maze of political and military diplomacy as well as commercial scheming to which Japan has contributed in generous measure.

And it is extremely doubtful, in the case of Japan, whether the results of these methods have been beneficial or injurious. It is clear that they have brought upon Japan the suspicion of the rest of the governments interested, with consequent loss of reputation and prestige, the enmity of her neighbors, as well as criticism at home from the point of view that the game is not worth the candle.

Not all of these methods are subjects of unfavorable criticism, let it be said and there are interesting contrasts that show the depth of the Japanese mind in its plan to expand the empire.

But it is when the military presses its procedure upon such unfortunate peoples as the Russians in Siberia that righteous indignation is aroused. Siberia today presents one of the best examples of Japanese ruthlessness. There brutal atrocities are resorted to, along with political scheming, to such an extent that the Siberian heart is branded with a hatred limited only by human capabilities. Terrible tortures and brutalities that rival those that were credited to Germany during the Great War and that run the gamut of ferociousness have been itemized in convincing form. But since this is not a story of atrocities let it suffice without bloody details, that Japanese brutality is horrible and inhuman to the maximum.

These are resorted to as acts of reprisal.

Methods in Siberia.

Political activity consisting of financial and moral support for various factions for the purpose of fomenting continuous trouble is a favorite practice of the Japanese military in Siberia. By creating tense and difficult situations, it is hoped to justify maintaining the expedition of between 20,000 and 30,000 troops in the Maritime Province. As long as Japan can point to disorders from the Amur to the Sea of Japan just so long can she tell the world that she is still on a "mission of humanity" in Siberia, she believes.

Thus, does the Japanese military create its own situations.

The case of the "coup" of Ataman Semenoff last spring illustrates how the military is working.

Japan had placed in power in Vladivostok a representative of the Monarchists, Merkuloff, in the hope of stilling the strong sentiment of the people in favor of a Democracy patterned after our own American plan. Shortly after power had been rested in Merkuloff it was deemed advisable to have it appear that Merkuloff was not satisfactory to the people, so Semenov, who had long been in the pay of the Japanese, was sent to Vladivostok from Dairen, a Japanese port in Korea, in a Japanese ship, the Kyndo Maru, in the hope that he would create a "revolution" and overthrow the government. Semenov remained on his ship in Vladivostok harbor, controlled by the Japanese, until it was found inadvisable to permit him to go on with his plans. He was then taken from the ship in a launch landed down the bay at a point where he was received by Japanese army officers, and whence he was transported to Grodekovo by a Japanese military motor. In the meantime, Japan denied its support of Semenov and declared he had arrived at Vladivostok without their knowledge and that he left likewise. One's conclusions are easily formed from this.

Creates Undying Hatred.

So goes the rape of Siberia. It will continue as long as Japan keeps its military forces there, which means as long as the militarists of Japan can continue such practices without interruption. It is impossible to deal in extravagant language in characterizing the tactics of the invaders in this way. They have resorted to a reign of terror in what appears is a campaign of more than subjugation—extermination, indeed, in which politics and brutality have gone hand in hand.

The result of such a procedure is plain enough to observers of the Siberian situation.

In the first place there is a determination to oppose Japan even until death, and secondly there is a crystallization of democratic spirit that will bring about order from chaos once the iron heel of Japan is lifted. A stabilized government will result as soon as such influences as these are removed, for the Commune is dead in Siberia. The people want their own government.

Here, then is the military method of Japan in Siberia. It had its beginnings elsewhere on the Asiatic continent but it is at its most active stage now in the Maritime Provinces.

The military, however, functions in still another manner in the furtherance of the Japanese program. A powerful army and navy holds a heavy hand over China, so when Japan tells China to sign her rights away, and the rest of the world is busy elsewhere, China, mindful of her own weakness and of Japan's strength, first resorts to compromise, gets what she can by that means, and then signs, as witness the "twenty-one demands" incident during the days of the Great War.

Another favorite method of Japan is secret diplomacy. While Japan does not exceed the practices of certain other governments along this line nevertheless it is American public opinion that secret diplomacy is dangerous and we are rightfully suspicious. The secret treaty with Russia in 1918 was not a procedure such as would entitle Japan to any great degree of trust from Americans. That treaty was designed to protect Japan against any offensive from Manchuria, in case of war with the United States. Russia's failure as a government, of course, annuled any such agreement and so Japan herself turned to Siberia and began a campaign of control of that part of Asia as far east as Lake Baikal, saying while she did this that a buffer state against bolshevism was necessary. Japan was merely turning from secret diplomacy to military activity, the pen was giving ground to the sword, Japanese officers were merely leaving their offices for the field.

Cannot Censure Secrecy

We Japan cannot be censured for secret diplomacy as a method any more than can other nations. We do not like the particular form that diplomacy took, nor do we believe in secret diplomacy at all, yet in fairness to Japan, when such a method is pursued Tokyo is following what other capitals started.

Still another method Japan follows with great aggressiveness and sometimes shrewdness deals with an economic and commercial program. This method has assumed a particularly high form in Manchuria, and a particularly low form in China, as is well known. The policy of tieing a weight of debt around the Chinese neck and then using the power a creditor possesses in order to obtain concessions is merely a form of extortion, Chinese experience with Japanese loans is well known.

However, in Harbin, Manchuria, is illustrated the real shrewdness of the Japanese business man. Appreciating the various circumstances that have attended other commercial policies and undertakings the Japanese have undertaken a campaign of friendship in Harbin. This has worked most effectively, too. The Japanese have gone into Harbin with the avowed purpose of making friends as the easy way of obtaining a foothold. They realized that with the bitter feeling of both the Russians and the Chinese, and without military assistance, they could get nowhere unless they made friends. So a campaign of making friends was put under way and carried to such an extent that the Japanese in spite of differences, invariably admitted he was wrong and his business rival was right. This campaign of friendship has resulted in magnificent business rewards for the Nipponese until today their holdings reach such proportions that it is said "they own the whole city."

Versatility of Method

The method in Harbin, Manchuria, offers a striking contrast to the activity in the neighboring country of Siberia, as well an illustration of the ability of the Japanese to attack different problems with a variety of procedure.

The versatility of the Japanese method is seen in still other directions in the plan to extend the business and commerce of the nation. The home government is a strong believer in subsidies and offers excellent financial assistance to industry, a policy with which we have no quarrel, but when this industry becomes so eager to hold its business that it falls back on policies of discrimination against competitors one realizes the full effect of Japanese monopoly. It is a well known fact that Japanese interests do not hesitate to discriminate against the businesses operated by outside concerns, so when Japan controls a railroad in Manchuria, or a port in Korea, or a province in China, there is small hope for others that they will get a square deal.

And now Japanese publicity.

All of these methods have the assistance of a system of propaganda vigorously if often unintelligently presented. The Japanese understand thoroughly the power of publicity. In fact they are experts along this line. The military has a splendid support by a press either subsidized or influenced to such a degree that instances of unfavorable criticism are far to infrequent for the good of the military itself.

The Tokyo government maintains a censorship of publications which forbids publication of certain news events or dictates as to how they are to be treated. When it becomes necessary to confuse issues or justify policies or turn the public attention from any particular event the editors of the country are given the word, the whip is cracked and the editorial drum fire resounds throughout the land.

Press Controlled

"There is no more control of the press in Japan than that exercised by Postmaster General Burleson," an editor told me.

He had forgotten that he had drawn a deadly parallel. The United States at war, admittedly and necessarily autocratic, compares favorably with Japan at peace.

That is not to say that all criticism is forbidden in Japan. There are a few newspapers that do not share the same views as the government and they frequently utter opinions of their own. The Siberian policy, particularly, has drawn editorial fire, but it is noticeable that never does the criticism of Japan reach the radical proportions of our journalistic disagreements. The Japanese editor is not only cautious as to his opinions but he is extremely careful as not to become overheated.

Not only is the Japanese editor closely watched, but his news sources come in for equal attention. The government has its own news services that do not differentiate between news and propaganda and that never hesitate to protect their master to the utmost.

Sometimes these news services do ridiculous things in the interest of policy. One incident, particularly, affords an excellent example of the extremes the militarists will go to further their ends, and also illustrates how unreliable Japanese news often is.

A news item was dispatched from Vladivostok telling of the "fall of the Far Eastern Republic at Chita, the flight of Krasnoschekov, head of the government, the destruction of the military stores and the cremation of many Communists who were burned alive in wooden buildings set afire when Baron Ungern led his troops against the Reds." It was further reported that wireless communication with Chita was broken down and the news of the fall of Chita could not be verified. Remember that the Jap-

1400 STICKS OF DYNAMITE ARE SEIZED IN PLOT

Five Men Are Arrested, One Shot In Side And May Not Live

MUCH T N T ALSO IS CONFISCATED

Raid Made On Shoe Shop; Occupants Blown from Beds

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—Fourteen hundred sticks of dynamite, three inches in diameter and ten inches long and 100 sticks of TNT were seized today by police following the capture of five dynamiters in the act of bombing a shoe repair shop.

One of the prisoners was shot in the side by police, who had surrounded the shop for ten hours following a mysterious tip that it was to be bombed.

Richard Burke, 23 years old, who was wounded and may die, was carrying the bomb when the five approached the shoe shop, after parking a stolen automobile two blocks away. Forty detectives hidden in neighboring buildings, surrounded the bombers and ordered them to surrender. Instead Burke hurled the bomb and the explosion tore the entire front out of the door, threw David Krenan, the owner and his family from their beds and broke windows for blocks around.

Burke was shot in the side by Michael Hughes, chief of detectives, and the other men surrendered. Burke confessed, according to the police, that he supplied bombs to labor unions as well as men to throw them.

Search of the South Side house where the prisoners lived resulted in finding the explosives and bomb making plant.

Bomb Plot Nipped

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Sept. 19.—A plot to blow up a section of the main wall or the gate at the federal penitentiary has been nipped, Warden W. I. Biddle and other prison officials announced today, stating that seven prisoners who are leaders in the plan have been placed in solitary confinement.

Hidden in the prison carpenter shop Assistant Warden Fred Zerbst found eleven home made hand grenades, made from two-inch gas pipe, a bottle of explosive and a new revolver. In the cell occupied by William Tighman a formula for making an explosive was found.

Prison officials said they had known for two weeks that there was a plot to escape and for four days guards have been concealed near the front gate, armed with sawed-off shot guns and automatic rifles.

ESCHEAT SUITS ARE POSTPONED

Japanese Seek Buyers For Visalia Land

VISALIA, Sept. 19.—It developed here today that while H. and K. Sumida, Japanese residents of Visalia, seek to find purchasers for their land holdings in Visalia and between this city and Tulare or seek to find purchasers for land which the state of California claims they really own in contravention to the state anti-alien land law, the suits in escheat, on file in the courts of Tulare county in which the state seeks to oust them from possession, are being allowed to go over from week to week on the court calendar. There is said to be some possibility of the Japanese finding a buyer or buyers for the property involved, which included a business block in Visalia and the famous Gianlinj ranch south of this city, of a total value of about $.00,000 and it is understood to be the opinion of U. S. Webb, state attorney general, that such a settlement of the case would be satisfactory to the state.

The state's only point of doubt it is said rests upon whether such a sale would be a bonafide one and should the Sumidas find buyers the state will inspect the contracts very closely before dropping the prosecution.

W. E. D. Stokes Loses Suit For Divorce

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—W. E. D. Stokes, wealthy realty owner, today lost suit for divorce from Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes, formerly of Denver, Colo. Instead, Supreme Court Justice Finch granted Mrs. Stokes a decree of separation and permitted her to retain custody of the children over whom she has had charge as the result of a decision of the probate court in Denver.

Dead War Heroes Are Paid Tribute

MARYSVILLE, Cal., Sept. 19.—Business was suspended in Marysville today during the double funeral of William L. Norton and Frank R. Gengler, who were killed while with the American army overseas. The services were under the auspices of the American legion post here and were held at St. Joseph's Catholic church.

"I challenge the operators charge of lawlessness. There has not been a penny's work of property destroyed, no lives have been lost or not a drop of bloodshed and nobody's rights trod on. In fact that is the very purpose of the patrols to prevent such trouble."

More than 400 men in this district returned to work today on leases controlled by the E. L. Doheny interests. Owing to some doubt as to the identity of some of the Doheny subsidiary companies other men will be returned to work, labor officers said, as the fact of Doheny ownership of control becomes known.

When the agreement of last year was signed the Doheny interests including the following companies: Petroleum Midway Limited; American Petroleum; American Oil Fields; Coalinga Star; Maricopa Star; California Star; Red Star; Pan-American Petroleum; Pan-American Pacific; Doheny Pacific and Pan-American Petroleum and Transportation company.

Discredit Report.

A report received from San Francisco, quoting W. J. Yarrow, general adviser of the oil workers unions, as having said that men had been ordered to work at properties where water seepage threatened permanent damage, such work to be sufficient to prevent loss, was discredited by the officials of the unions here. They said they were sure Mr. Yarrow had been misunderstood, as the facts were not as the dispatch stated them.

In some cases where the operators have been heard from because they live at a distance, or for other reasons, we have left men on the properties to protect them from damage," said Vice President Fraser, "but there is no general effort on our part to protect the wells from damage by seepage."

The usual rumor crop relating to strike developments matured here today. It was persistently rumored where the men were gathered, and in other quarters, that non-line workers and Standard Oil men, all of whom have so far remained at work, were to be called out. Mr. Fraser and other officers said they had no instructions to this effect.

The strike leaders have apparently adopted a new plan of handling their work. Mr. Fraser remains at Bakersfield. Harry Baker, international vice president of the oil workers for the First District, has gone in-

Coalinga Is Quiet

Special to The Republican.

COALINGA, Sept. 19.—A state quietude "along the Potomac" prevailed here today when nothing new developed in the strike situation other than increased activity on the part of the law and order patrols of the oil workers union to keep an airtight watch on all highway and railway inlets to the field with a view of preventing a possible influx of strike-breakers. Every road leading into the city and fields is kept under strict guard night and day. All machines are stopped and occupants questioned before they are allowed to continue the journey. Patrols are handled in a semi-military manner, with guard details and reliefs constantly going back and forth from their posts, special duty men and officers of the organization reading to and from their control stations, and others making their way to and from outlying guarded districts.

It was reported through certain channels yesterday that a trainload of men have arrived in Fresno and were enroute to Coalinga. The report was to the effect that special cars would be attached to last night's train, but when it arrived the strike-breakers were not in evidence, although there were from eight to a dozen men on the train investigated by the patrol committee.

Pan-American Men At Work

Special to The Republican.

TAFT, Sept. 19.—The outstanding features of strike in the westside fields today was the announcement of C. M. Swindell, secretary of the producers organization, that steps were being taken to secure full legal rights, and the return to work of some men on the Pan-American.

Renewed care is being exercised tonight by the law and order committee and pickets following the announcement from Swindell.

According to Harry Baker, first vice president of the first district for the oil workers, the only Dohenys properties signing up is the Pan-American. The Pan-American lease on Section 22, 32, 25 near Taft, a lease near Fellows and the Elk Hills leases are the only ones included, not over 200 men being on all three leases.

The American Oilfields, Petroleum, Midland Limited and Midland Oilfields, according to Baker are not included.

Two State Offices To Be Transferred

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 19.—The offices of the state water commission and the state land settlement board, now situated at San Francisco and Berkeley, respectively, are to be transferred to Sacramento within a few weeks, it was announced today by A. B. Fletcher, director of the state department of public works, under which the two agencies now are functioning.

Director Fletcher stated that it was his intention to centralize all work of his department. The water commission is under direct charge of Charles H. Lea, and Dr. Elwood Meat directs the activities of the land settlement board which controls the work of the colonies at Durham and Delhi.

VERSATILE RULE BY JAPANESE

Military Acts In Siberia Create Hatred

ance army officers control all news disseminated from Vladivostok through agencies, also that the army control the wireless to Chita. The story could have been either denied or verified by the army. Observers who felt the story was untrue, who knew that the Chita government is not Communistic, and who understood something of the Russian spirit, wondered what policy the government was preparing to justify. Shortly came the announcement that "in view of the disorders" the Siberian expedition would not be withdrawn. Japan had to maintain her guard against Communism! It was the old, old yarn on another spindle. Of course, it was only a matter of a few days when the "fall of Chita" was quietly denied.

* * *

This is not intended as a complete development of the Japanese method. In the interest of brevity I have herein stated by convictions and offered a few personal observations in addition to well known history.

The method of procedure adopted in Japan has a direct bearing on the source of Japanese policy. The two are closely related. Therefore, it has been developed as a distinct factor in the Far Eastern situation.

Kern To Address Fresno Realtors

The Fresno Realty Board at its weekly luncheon tomorrow will be addressed by Albert E. Kern, who is vice president of the national organization of realtors. Kern is expected to outline plans for the entertainment of the national convention of realtors, which meets in San Francisco on May 30 to June 3 of next year.

The Fresno Realty Board is making every effort to bring the members of the convention to the San Joaquin valley during their itinerary of California. This will be one of the big items to be talked over by the board with Kern Wednesday.

At the luncheon plans will be perfected for sending a large delegation to Reedley that night, the occasion being the organization of a realty board in that town. President C. H. Antrim of the Fresno board will head the realty delegation attending the Reedley event.

A Surprise Tonight

If you will try this way to prettier teeth

This test will surprise and delight you. The results are so quick, so pleasing, so conspicuous.

Millions have already made it. The glistening teeth seen everywhere now show some benefits it brings.

Go get this free tube from the dealer named. Use it and watch the effects. It will open up to you and yours a new era in teeth cleaning.

Why prettier teeth?

This method brings whiter, prettier teeth because it fights the film. Your teeth are now covered with a viscous coat. Feel it with your tongue. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays.

Old brushing methods do not remove it all. Enough remains to make the teeth both dingy and unsafe.

That is why teeth look cloudy. The film-coats absorb stains. Film also causes most tooth troubles. And, under old methods, all those troubles have been constantly increasing.

How film ruins teeth

Film dims the teeth's luster. It also forms the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Many other serious troubles, local and internal, are now traced to them.

Countless people find that teeth brushed daily still discolor and decay. The main reason lies in that film.

Now we daily fight it

Dental science, after long research, has found ways to fight that film. Able authorities have proved their efficiency. Now leading dentists everywhere advise their daily use.

These methods are combined in a modern dentifrice called Pepsodent. Millions now employ it, largely by dental advice. The use is fast spreading the world over among those who know.

That is the tooth paste we ask you to try. Watch its effects on the film. See how your teeth improve. Then let your own good sense decide between old methods and the new.

Three other essentials

Modern science also requires three other effects from a tooth paste. The old methods did not bring them. Pepsodent brings them all.

Each use of Pepsodent multiplies the salivary flow. That is Nature's great tooth-protecting agent. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise form acids.

It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is Nature's neutralizer for the acids which cause decay.

Five important effects come from every application. And modern authorities deem all of them essential.

Not for women only

The most conspicuous effect is glistening teeth. Countless women employ it largely on that account. Few things add so much to beauty.

But men also want white teeth. Men who smoke find that teeth discolor quickly, due to stains in the film.

Pepsodent means more than this, however. It means cleaner, safer teeth. Children need it even more than others. Their teeth are easily attacked, and very few escape. Dentists advise that Pepsodent be used every day from the time the first tooth appears.

To all it means a new conception of clean, well-protected teeth.

Present the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. Watch the other good effects.

This test will prove a delightful revelation. To you and yours it may bring life-long benefits. Every day you wait may mean new damage. Cut out the coupon now. Present it this week.

SUPERVISION IN FLYING NEEDED

Secretary Hoover Is Given Report

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 19.—Development of commercial flying in this country to a plane of safety comparable to that in rail and water transportation depends upon government regulation of aviation, according to an analysis of the air traffic situation prepared for Secretary Hoover by the Manufacturers' Aircraft Association.

Mr. Hoover has begun a study of the commercial aircraft problem in the light of the possible establishment of a bureau of aviation to regulate travel by air. Legislation before Congress would put the control of this means of transportation into his department should the government decide federal regulation advisable.

Lack of federal control, the association declared, was one of the main causes of accidents in the air, which give rise to the belief that flying is extremely dangerous—one of the severest handicaps to the development of transportation by air. There is also lack of official machinery with which to obtain authentic information relative to flying accidents.

However, the association reports, during the first half of 1921 there was but one flying fatality for each 232,142 miles flown by civilians and one injury for every 62,600 miles flown. During the six months, the association said, there were 40 serious accidents in civil flying, resulting in the death of 14 persons and the injury of 62, out of a total of 1,200 commercial aircraft which flew an aggregate of 3,350,000 miles.

All of these accidents except five, the association contended, were due to deficiency in the requisites of safe flying, which could be enforced by government regulation. These requisites, the association stated, consist of a machine sound aerodynamically and structurally; an engine of sufficient power which operates satisfactorily; air ports and landing fields sufficiently close together to insure gliding to safety; nation-wide forecasts specialized and adapted to the needs of flyers and nation-wide charts of air routes. Government inspection and enforcement of regulations making those requisites effective, the association asserted, would reduce the danger of flying to a minimum.

Five of the forty accidents, the association reported, were due to "unknown causes" and in such case, it added, government authority is necessary to obtain this information which will permit of learning and correcting such causes.

Stunt flying, the association continued, was responsible for 50 per cent of the deaths and injuries, but a system of government control limiting this menace to aviation to certain areas, it continued, would generally overcome this.

Danger of collision in the air, the association said, was not great, providing levels of flight for aircraft underway are established and observed and providing stunt flying is controlled. The only collision reported occurred during a stunt performance.

Summer School Enrollment Heavy

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 19.—Summer sessions held by universities and colleges this year throughout the United States generally enrolled more students than ever before, according to J. J. Pettijohn, director of the University of Minnesota's summer session.

The University of Chicago had a 15 per cent gain over last year, bringing summer enrollment to 6457. The University of Wisconsin showed a gain of about 25 per cent. Dr. Pettijohn reported 28 per cent more at Minnesota.

SOLEMN SCENES MARK BURIAL OF RZ-2 VICTIMS AT HULL, ENGLAND

British and American victims of the disastrous flight of the ZR-2 shared equal honors in the solemn obsequies in the streets of Hull, England. The five British victims who were the only ones found up to the time of the burial were interred together, their remains being laid in a common grave without distinction. The ceremonies were public. Many among the thousands who lined the streets were suffering personal bereavements. Motor trucks and trailers comprised the funeral cortege. The photo shows a general view of the funeral procession.

HARDING TALK IS PROTESTED

Credit Given Bolivar Is Denied

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 19.—When President Harding said at the unveiling of the statue of General Simon Bolivar in New York that freedom in the American continents was due principally to two heroes, Washington and Bolivar, he caused to flame forth afresh an old controversy regarding the relative merits of Bolivar and the hero of Southern South America, General San Martin.

As a result of this the Junta de Historia y Numismatica Americana here has proposed that Congress should pass a law providing $300,000 Argentine paper with which to make a motion picture film showing the part played by the Argentine here in the struggle against Spain. The plan is to have the picture displayed in South America and in other lands so that the world may have a better understanding of the exploits of the leader who captured Lima, Peru, and thus broke the backbone of the Spanish power.

Historians of the southern part of the continent have long accused those of the northern half and of Central America of persistently attempting to belittle the deeds of San Martin. They point out that while Bolivar freed the north, San Martin accomplished the titanic feat of leading an army from Argentina across the Andes, freeing Chile and later capturing Lima, which was the seat of Spanish power. This, they say, put an end to Spanish resistance.

Bolivar also was approaching Lima at the time of the capture, coming from the north. The two generals met in Guayaquil, Ecuador, and General San Martin resigned Lima to his fellow liberator, returning himself to Argentina.

PEKING MEDICAL COLLEGE WILL BE DEDICATED TODAY

Noted Scientists From Many Countries Will Attend Services of Rockefeller Institute Branch

PEKING, Sept. 19.—The great Peking Union Medical College, which has been erected here by the China Medical Board of the Rockefeller Foundation, is to be dedicated tomorrow and noted scientists and medical men from many countries are here either to take part in the ceremonies or to attend an international medical conference to be held in connection with the dedication.

The Peking Union Medical College has been in process of erection and construction since 1915. It is the chief agency through which the Rockefeller Foundation aims to promote the progress of western medicine in China. It is an outgrowth of the Union Medical College, which was founded by the joint effort of six British and American missionary societies in 1906, after the Boxer outbreak. The China Medical Board of the foundation has assumed the full support of the college which is chartered under the laws of the State of New York.

The purpose of the China Medical Board is to make the college a rallying point for scientific medical training and research not only in China but throughout the Far East. It will maintain constant relations with Europe and North America through a system of visiting professors. Graduate students from other medical colleges are expected to resort to it. Practicing physicians and medical missionaries in China may receive from it stimulation and support.

The campus of the college which is located near the heart of Peking and the Forbidden City was formerly the site of the palace and garden of a Chinese Prince.

Fourteen hospitals and laboratory buildings have been erected thereon and these have been decorated in the conventional Chinese fashion in bright colors and with the elaborate cornices typical of imperial palaces and temples. The college plant consists of laboratories of anatomy, physiology and chemistry, a pathology building, a 250-bed hospital with about 30 private rooms, a large out-patient department, a hospital administration unit with quarters for resident physicians and internes, and nurses' home and plants to supply water, heat, electric light and power and fuel gas. The buildings are fire-proof and modern in every detail of interior arrangement and equipment and yet are in harmony with the best traditions of Chinese architecture. The cost of the buildings has not been made public but as they were constructed during the war, it is understood to have been very large.

Graduation students must successfully complete a five years' course in medicine and, at the present time, English is the medium of instruction but ultimately the Chinese may be required. Special courses in all departments are open to medical graduates of all nationalities.

The faculty has been assembled from among men of high standing in the United States, Europe and China. Dr. Henry S. Houghton, its director, was formerly professor of tropical medicine and dean of the Harvard Medical School of China. Dr. Ralph B. Seem, acting superintendent of the college hospital, is now director of the Albert Merritt Billings Hospital of the University of Chicago, with a leave of absence for this year. Others of the college faculty are Dr. T. Dwight Sloan, formerly superintendent of the University of Nanking Hospital; Dr. Davidson Black, a graduate of the University of Toronto and formerly of the Canadian Army Medical Corps; Dr. Ralph G. Mills, formerly of the staff of Johns Hopkins Medical School; Dr. Franklin C. Mclean, formerly of the faculty of the University of Chicago; Dr. Adrian S. Taylor, formerly of Johns Hopkins Medical School; and Dr. J. Preston Maxwell, formerly medical missionary in China.

There are 34 Americans and Europeans and 37 Chinese on the hospital and teaching staff of the college and the nurses' training school.

Lecturers from different parts of the world will visit the college to stimulate its scientific work which is to include not only training for hospital work but medical research.

Among the members of the Board of Trustees are John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Dr. George E. Vincent, president of the Rockefeller Foundation.

In connection with the ceremonies of dedication, addresses will be delivered by Mr. Rockefeller, Jr., Dr. Vincent, Dr. S. S. Goldwater, of New York City; Dr. Richard M. Pearce, of the Rockefeller Foundation and by Dr. William H. Welch, of Baltimore, Md. Brief addresses of welcome will be made by Chinese government officials and representatives of medical societies in China.

"KNOW THYSELF!"

We expect to have many people at the Fresno District Fair. We expect to have visitors from all parts of the state. Especially we look to have our neighbors. We hope to see Madera and Tulare and Kings, according to their numbers and their convenience, and we will look for Kern and Merced and Stanislaus and Mariposa and Tuolumne and from many counties farther away. And they will all be made welcome.

Moreover, the people of the city of Fresno will meet with those of Selma, and Sanger will get acquainted with Coalinga, and Kerman will shake hands with Reedley and say "Pleased to meet you." And yet, after all, we think that the greatest good of the fair will be for the people who go there to get to know themselves.

We ourselves will be less strange to ourselves, after we have been at the fair.

The fair will be like a great mirror in which we see ourselves not as others see us but as we are.

For we are the things that we can be. And the fair shows us what we can be.

Every piece of machinery, every kind of food or clothing, every convenience of life, is a part of us, or a part of what we can be and should be. Every living thing that can be of service to mankind, can be of service to us. Every useful thing, every pleasant thing, every thing in which there is an appeal, is "us."

Even the amusements, so-called, of the fair, are a part of us.

The fair shows us to be children. We still have the capacity of learning. We can learn to eat better and to clothe ourselves better and to order our lives better, and even to amuse ourselves better. Just as food is the nourishment of the body, so is pleasure the sustenance of the soul.

The hygienists thought long ago that they had discovered everything that was necessary for bodily comfort. They classified them into proteids and hydrocarbons and carbohydrates and water, and then they reluctantly added iron and salt and a few other apparently unclassifyable entities. And then they found that a man might eat all these things and yet die of starvation. Mankind, as they have lived on the earth through the millions of years past have been formed out of the earth, wholly. There is apparently nothing in the earth that is not essential. And many of these essences have not yet been classified or analyzed. There are flavors and odors that must be a part of men's natures. We are yearly discovering new things that are a part of physical living. If we have been healthy, we have always been getting these things by quite natural processes. It is only that lately we have been discovering just what the lack of them signifies. Vitamines are the rage because we have just been able to name them, and we have named them because we have discovered that if they are omitted, we suffer. It is like the small boy's definition of salt as something that made potatoes taste bad if left out.

There are vitamines of the soul. We call them amusements. They have a definite although often intangible relation to the fats and proteids and starches of mental and spiritual life. We need to feed our intelligences with substances and with intangibles both.

At the fair, we come to know ourselves, as well as others, better. We see there legitimate, healthy desire, better satisfied. Our minds range through a great cycle of possibilities, even as our bodies range through the hot dogs and the beans and the pink fizz water and the stock pens and the auto sheds and the race courses.

There is a historical reason why we call it a "district" fair. In fact, it is a fair managed and directed by Fresno county. But we don't call it a county fair, because it is not really a county fair. It is a district fair, the fair that represents us as residents of a district in the heart of California. It is the fruit not of the county, but of the people. It is a product not of our political conditions but of our industry and our society. It represents us as whole men and women.

Get ready for the fair!

WHOSE PEACE?

The factors to the industrial dispute in the central California oil wells district have been skating over very thin ice in this attempt to preserve what they consider their own rights and yet preserve their proper relation to the entire public.

It is recognized that the purpose of neither side has been unlawful. As to the industrial ethics of either side, any violation of strict business propriety at least so far have not gone to a point where public censure seems to be called for. But there appears to be great danger of that point being reached.

It is recognized that the right of a group of men to strike (not the propriety of the strike) is often accompanied by peculiar danger of disorder. And it is recognized that in this particular case, the leaders of the men have taken unusual precautions not merely to preserve order, but to preserve the good opinion of the general public.

But it is very questionable whether the preservation of either the general good order of the oil district or the good reputation of the groups of workingmen engaged in the strike calls for the extraordinary method of policing of the district.

The regular method of preserving order is through the sheriff, the constabulary and any other duly constituted authorities. Any departure from such a situation is only to be justified by a revolutionary situation.

And yet we have in this district today, a force of men who have no duly constituted authority, who are deputized by no official personage, who have established themselves as a force for peace. They stop and inquire into the business of the passers by. They turn back from travel through the district men to whom they object or whom they think they have reason to suspect.

There are some amellorations to this interference. It is reported that the vigilantes do not interfere with the travel of parties whose purpose is obviously not connected with the strike. And the total results so far has been to keep the peace in a strike district in an unusual degree.

Yet this peace is due also to special conditions. The fact appears to be that the oil companies are content to let the strikers have their own way, and to permit the strike to be "effective." What would happen if this were not the case? What would happen if the operators chose to exercise their undoubted right of running their wells?

Should the people of the state of California, should the people of Fresno or any other county permit the "peace of the state of California" to be preserved by any one but duly elected and appointed officials?

Should the preservation of law and order be committed to a "vigilance committee" of any sort?

Should a man traveling in any part of the state of California be stopped by any one unless that man can show the authority of a star?

Is the sheriff of Fresno or any other county fulfilling his duty if he deputizes the business of keeping the peace to anyone but men whom he has sworn in and whose authority he can revoke at any time?

We may be complaisant to the present situation. How long can we be tolerant of a condition of affairs that places the keeping of the peace in the hands of men whose actions are not governed by law but by the particular exegencies of their own fortunes?

Whose peace is being kept in the oil fields of central California, and by whom?

Pacific Islands: The Conference

Bulletin, National Geographic Society

WASHINGTON, D. C.—"If the Pacific were merely a great ocean devoid of islands or with as few bits of land as those in the North Atlantic, probably there would be no 'Pacific problem'," says a bulletin issued from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society in connection with the approaching Conference called by President Harding for the discussion of the Limitation of Armaments and Far Eastern questions. "In other words," continues the bulletin, "each island might be visualized not inappropriately as the dot under a vast, buzy question mark. To split hairs, it is not so much 'the problem of the Pacific' that is bothering the world, as the problem of its islands.

"If modern fleets had to be operated 6,000 miles from home without fuel bases, or if cables had to span such distances under water without relay stations, offensive naval warfare and telegraphic communication over wires would be practically impossible. The great powers of the world woke up to this fact in earnest about a generation ago and began taking over island bases and stations in the Pacific that had previously seemed of little more significance than stages for exotic dances and cannibal feasts. Before this, islands and the lands bordering the world's greatest ocean had been acquainted chiefly with the idea of exploiting their products, and only the larger areas were considered important. With the realization of the valuable parts that naval bases and relay stations might play in the future, there developed a keen interest in even the tiniest rocks and coral rings.

U. S. Has Big "Stake" in Pacific

"As landlords of the domains that bound the vast bowl of the Pacific now sit three great vitally interested powers—the United States, Great Britain and Japan. In addition there are four nations hardly less interested—China, Russia, Holland and France. Among those countries whose interests are by no means negligible are Mexico, Chile and the other west coast Latin American States. Spain and Germany, once interested at least to the extent that France is now interested, have passed from the Pacific; but in passing each has accentuated the problems of the United States.

"What may be called the 'stakes' of the various countries whose lands hem in the Pacific vary greatly on a basis of their coast lines. Leaving minor convolutions of the coasts out of consideration in every case, the United States leads in miles of frontage on the Pacific with more than 4,000 miles, counting both the sweep of the Aleutian Islands and the part of Alaska above them. The Philippines add a direct frontage of about 1,000 miles more on the other side of the great ocean.

Russian Coast Line Important

"Asiatic Russia is second with approximately 3,500 miles from Bering Strait to Chosen (Korea), counting the coast line of the sea of Okhotsk, comparable in size to our own Gulf of Mexico.

"Across the southwestern corner of the Pacific, British territory stretches from Dutch New Guinea to New Zealand, a distance of about 3,500 miles, but with a break of over 1,000 miles between Australia and New Zealand. In a way, however, Australia may fairly be considered entirely a Pacific land, giving Great Britain by far the greatest coast line. The continent has for protection a coast line of approximately 8,000 miles, easily reached by fleets from the Pacific, and it matters little from a naval point of view that half the water that bathes this long shore line is called the Indian Ocean. Canada adds approximately 500 miles to British Pacific coast lines.

"The islands that constitute Japan stretch along Asia from near the tip of Kamchatka to the southern point of Taiwan (Formosa), and thus have a frontage on the Pacific of about 2,700 miles. The coast line of Japan is much greater, however, due to the western frontage on the Sea of Oghotsk, the Sea of Japan, and the Yellow and Eastern Seas.

Philippines Screen Asiatic Lands

"Screened by the Philippines and the British possessions in northern Borneo, the Dutch possessions have a direct frontage on the Pacific of only about 1,000 miles; but their total coast line, counting that on the Indian Ocean, is many times that figure. China's coast line, too, is screened, by Japan. It amounts to about 2,000 miles. French Indo China, behind the Philippines, has a coast line of about 1,000 miles on the China Sea.

"On the eastern side of the Pacific, Mexico has a coast line of more than 2,000 miles, while that of Chile is more than 2,500 miles. The aggregate Pacific coast line of the remaining Latin American countries amounts to about 3,500 miles.

"But it is the small scattered islands controlled by these bordering nations that constitute the crux of the 'Pacific problem.' Practically all the islands in the Pacific proper are under the control of Great Britain, France, the United States, and Japan. All of the French and most of the British holdings are situated south of the equator, leaving the United States and Japan in close competition above that line. Guam is practically surrounded by newly acquired Japanese islands, formerly owned by Germany; and Japanese lands skirt the Philippines on three sides. The United States is not a large holder of Pacific islands, but it owns the group which is by far the most important strategically—Hawaii."

The judge's charge is always interesting, but at times we are even more interested in wondering what the jury charges the defendant.

W. T. B. wishes to know if it is correct to say: "The General done it." It is not. The private soldier done it.

"Somebody Else Would Do It"

Into the loan shark's office come the thriftless and the unfortunate. They need money and they need it right away.

They get it for eight or ten per cent a month—and become loan shark victims for life.

"Somebody else would soak 'em if we didn't" say the loan sharks, and dismiss the matter from what might have been their consciences.

Into Wall Street come the innocent lambs who have money but no brains.

"Somebody else would fleece 'em if we didn't," say a few crooked brokers. And the lambs depart, shorn.

Known to the writer is a man who thinks he is perfectly honest. He was offered a used automobile at a very low price. Indications were that it had been "borrowed" by the vendor in a distant town.

"Somebody else would get the bargain if I didn't," said the purchaser, and drove it away to his garage.

"Somebody else" would in truth do almost any criminal thing that there is to do.

Yet because somebody else is dishonest is a poor and flimsy excuse for following his example.

There are abundant ways to get along in this world without stealing anything or cheating anybody.

More and more business men, even those who are not overstocked with scruples, have learned that a reputation for strict integrity pays the biggest dividends.

The fact that dishonest people are about, ready to cheat and steal does not justify any other person to do the same thing.

There is always "somebody else" who will rob banks and climb porches and institute get rich quick schemes like Ponzi's.

Thousands of human beings are constantly ready to be victimized by sharpers.

But we know of no sharper who has been supremely successful and we know of hundreds of straight dealing men who have.

There is a very old proverb, which for a long time fell into disuse that is coming more and more to be the guiding business principles of life.

It is known as "Honesty is the best policy."

Practice that and you will never need to slave your conscience with "somebody else" would do. Also You will sleep with less fear that a deputy sheriff or a policeman may look in on you the next morning.

If the San Francisco Call can not refrain from coarse and indecent invective in its attacks on the Examiner, it might at least follow the yellower sheets example and hire some one to put its brutalities into good English. For instance its denunciation of Hearst as a "mangy pup" and of his journals as "noisome papers," which would "defile the garbage can" on which they ought to be dumped, would be much more effective billingsgate if it did not end in such an extraordinary hodge-podge of anti climax and mixed metaphores as this: "patience with its gorilla busts, baboon malice and monkey shines is exhausted, and nothing it may do will sugar and shine it to a disguise that may permit its entry again into decent company."—Editorial.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, speaks to a large audience at the Barton Opera House, and attacks Federal Judges because of use of the injunction.

The meeting called for Thursday night to consider Mr. Nutting's proposed Raisin Exchange ought by all means to call out an interested attendance of men who are willing to give it serious consideration. And it ought to give it that consideration either by thrashing it out on the spot or by leaving it to a committee which is ready to sit down on the job until it is done. Such exchanges do now handle other products, big and little, in other places, and while none of them have conditions exactly analogous to the raisin business, as they are also not analogous to each other, the collected experience of other communities in handling their problems is sure to be useful to us in considering how to handle ours. It will take some patience to digest that experience, but it is worth it. Also, it is likely that no ready made plan will completely satisfy all minds and all tests. But if it is worth while to put the raisin business on a systematic organized basis, it is worth while to begin somewhere. This happens to be the nearest and most accessible way to begin. How much farther it can be made to go, and in what direction, can only be found out by trying.—Editorial.

Energy, by Way of Chemistry

From the N. Y. Times

It is not so long ago that the foundation fact upon which the science of chemistry stood was the indivisibility of the smallest conceivable particle of matter—the atom. The molecule was divisible and, so, mutable, changeable, even volatile, but the indivisible atom was theoretically stable, immutable unchangeable the same, yesterday, today and forever. This has come to be seen, however, as a "failing foundation", and the fate of the human race is in a very practical way involved in the extensive disintegration of the atom, we are now instructed. Dr. Arthur Little's address on the subject of "Energy", made at the international meeting of chemists in the Great Hall of the College of the City of New York on Thursday, contained some pertinent observations of ominous import. Like an ancient haruspex, he stood in this public place examining the entrails of the earth and announcing the omens: Our civilization is based on coal, but coal is exhaustible; there is a tendency to shift to petroleum, but the carrying power of petroleum is temporary and likely to be brief; natural gas is a waning resource; the earth's rotatory force has found expression only in the gyroscope; the energy of the wind and the closely allied energy of the waves are too uncertain and diffuse to justify extensive exploitation; except in a few very favorable locations it is not feasible to utilize the tides; it seems improbable that the vast store of energy existent as the earth's internal heat will ever be available, despite the fact that Italy has utilized steam issuing from vents in the side of a volcano.

But this able haruspex from Boston does not leave us without hope. There is enough coal for many generations to come. President Van Hise a few years ago estimated that, even if mining and waste went on at the same rate of increase as in the preceding decades, the known coal fields would last till the year 2050. Moreover, there is "white coal" in abundance—that is, water that may be made to fall. The water power resources of the United States are sufficient to operate every factory and light every building in the country if only means of putting them at work were available. Perhaps the radiancy of the sun wasting on the desert air of the Sahara alone the heating power of six billion tons of coal daily may some day be "catalyzed" (to use the term of Professor Wilder D. Bancroft of Cornell University, another great augur appearing on the same platform), and converted into "cold light" or some other form of energy helpful to man. But that from which it is prophesied—in the words of still another of these great scientists, Rutherford—the race "may date its development is the discovery of a 'method of utilizing atomic energy'"; and atomic energy is to be derived by the breaking up of the atom and freeing the force that holds these infinitesimal particles together. So stupendous are the imagined possibilities of such sub-atomic freedom that the opinion is expressed that it is fortunate the discovery has not been made during the period of international friction. When this is accomplished the Cornell chemist is quoted as saying, "it will come about by catalysis."

Chemists were referred to a few days ago in these columns as "catalysts of industry". This figure of speech has approval in the summarizing statement of Professor Bancroft's address, for, after saying that the hope for a speedy return of prosperity lies in the intensive development of chemistry, and that the chemists must develop means of increasing production and decreasing costs, he insists that "the most promising way of doing this is by a better utilization of the possibilities of catalytic action"—a catalytic agent or a "catalyst" being defined as one that in some way "speeds up" productive activity without self-change or exhaustion. But by whatever process the chemist and physicist and biologist release new energy, they must all agree with the thesis of Dr. Little that "energy is the economic support of progress "for the creature with his few grains of better brain matter."

DAUGHERTY AS HANNA SECOND?

From the Springfield Republican

The report that Attorney-General Daugherty will resign from the cabinet in season to run for the Senate from Ohio next year does not forecast his early retirement from his present office. He could stay in the cabinet all winter and then have ample time to make his campaign in Ohio.

The sight of Daugherty going to the Senate would remind the veterans in politics of Mark Hanna. There would be something of a parallel between the two cases that should interest the younger set. Mark Hanna of Cleveland was the political manager who "put" McKinley into the White House and then entered the Senate, after old John Sherman had been crafty pried out of that body, so as to look after President McKinley's interests in Congress. In the Senate Hanna became the President's personal representative and the administration mouth. The regular leaders—and there were big ones in those days—who had come up from the bottom of the Senate, after years of service, had to reckon with Hanna from the first day of his appearance in the chamber.

President Harding is playing the role of a second McKinley. He, too, was "put" into the White House by an Ohio friend and manager, who scored a wonderful hand wagon success after 20 years of political disappointing failure. Carrying out the parallel, what more natural than for Mr. Daugherty to be Mr. Harding's Hanna even to the extent of representing the President in the Senate—Ohio being willing? One need not hesitate to say that if Mr. Harding is to dominate the Senate in the second half of his administration he needs in that body a lieutenant the loyalty, devotion and disinterestedness of whom could never be in question.

THOUGHTS

Our economic position has been vastly altered by the war. We have become largely an exporting and creditor nation. We do not know what sort of tariff we may need five years hence, or even three years hence. Premature revision all along the line might be disastrous economically and politically. The country is not clamoring for a new permanent tariff, but for relief from ill-adjusted internal taxation. The Fordney revision can wait.—New York Tribune.

The document which the state department describes as a treaty with Germany, consists of a quotation from the congressional resolution approved by the President July 2 and two articles translating this resolution into terms of the treaty of Versailles, with the reservation of certain rights and the disavowal of certain obligations under that treaty on the part of the United States. It is thus an affair of shears and paste-pot.—The New Republic.

The Norwegian Parliament is going to prohibit the importation of beverages containing more than fourteen per cent of alcohol. That, of course, may seem like dryness to a Viking.—Providence Journal.

Two Mouthfuls o'Nothing

By Sir Trim Scotty

The Old Office Clock

High on the wall
In front of me
There hangs a clock
Brilliant with newness.
The old clock hung there
Many, many years
And in its day
It kept good time,
But age came to it,
As age has fashion,
And hands would falter
So in its place
This new clock hangs
In shining frame
And dazzling glass
And with the numbers
On the dial
Easy-like to read.
It seems to add an air
Of radiant richness
To the newsroom
Of The Republican,
But I wonder
What its looks will be
When it has hung
Upon that wall
And ticked the hours away
For twenty years
As has the old one
That now is gone:
In that long journey
Of a score of years
What scenes of sadness
And what things of joy
That clock has looked upon.
What new lads starting in
With goodly pride
And fine ambition.
What old lads holding on
With grim determination.
What brilliant floaters
Eddying in for little while
To blaze with brilliance
And then float on.
A motely throng
Of old and young
And middle-aged—
Newspaper men who were,
Who are and will be.
Some plodding patient
And some eager quick.
Some who had learned
The lesson of their craft
In far off places
And must needs again
Take lessons in new ways.
Some who could learn
And some who would
And some who'll always be
Square pegs
In holes cut round.
The face of that old clock
Has looked down
Through that score of years
On nights made big
With news of note—
That tap-tap of the A. P. wires
That told of wars,
Of bloody battles,
Of ghastly shipwrecks,
Of heads of government
Torn from their thrones,
Of deaths and births,
Of wedding bells,
Of peace, of panic,
Of sin, of shame, of suffering.
The old clock looked down
On these things
And one may wonder
If the new clock
Hanging in its place
Will hang as long
And see as much of change
And wonder more
Where we will be
When newer clock
Succeeds this new one.

More Truth Than Poetry

Mistaken Ambition

The Indians of Texas want the old war dances prohibited on the ground that they are a return to savagery.

When Lo put on his war paint
And through the bosky dell
The startled deer turned pale to hear
His chilling, thrilling yell,
His manners were not perfect,
His mode of speech, mayhap
Was not polite, yet he was quite
An interesting chap.

When Lo went on the war-path,
And with a hideous scoff
Would slash and tear a victim's hair
Until it all came off,
One would not care to meet him
When strolling to or fro;
He loved to kill, but he was still
A character, was Lo.

When Lo went through his war dance,
The panther up the creek
Would shudder in his tawny skin
To hear him howl and shriek.
But though you might have viewed him
With genuine alarm,
His strenuous ways in those dead days
Were not devoid of charm.

But Lo, clad like a white man,
Correct in dress and mien,
With all the heirs the pale face wears,
And absolutely clean.
Would hardly be romantic,
For Lo is nature's child,
And though he sighs some day to rise
We like him better wild!

A Dead Comrade

M. H. Weigall in the Westminster Gazette

There is a name we have not said, so long
That in our very hearts that name is shy,
Yet who once loved him more than you or I?
Oh, be more loyal to our love, and strong!
Could we not name him, laughing, as of old,
Here on the open hills this summer day,
And tell him again the things he used to say—
Lest love too lonely laid grow sad and cold?
Ah, it was grief indeed, if a day came
When this familiar road and friendly trees
And the gay memories entwined with these
Should make us only sigh! And yet-lest shame
If we who knew such days, and such a friend,
Should not go proud and smiling to the end/

A Simple Way To Remove Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of pinlin, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

MERCHANTS MAY ENTER GROUNDS

May Solicit Trade At Fresno Fair

Announcement was made by H. E. Patterson, manager of the Fresno District Fair, yesterday that merchants may solicit trade inside the grounds this year upon obtaining a permit from the offices of the Fair. The permit for each wagon or automobile entering the grounds will cost $5 but will entitle the car to enter any number of times on the one payment.

In former years one merchant from each business in the city was given the exclusive rights to solicit trade, but in order to make the procedure fair for all, the new system has been decided upon. The permits may be had at the Fresno chamber of commerce offices at once for the payment of $5. All merchants desiring to make use of this accommodation are urged to obtain their permits at once.

Season tickets, costing $2.50, and entitling the holder to admission to the grounds every day of the week including Saturday and at all times each day are now being sold. As there are but 500 of these tickets on sale, a very few remain and those desiring such tickets are urged to obtain them at once. The tickets form a saving of at least $5. The season ticket will enable one to view the San Joaquin Valley Automobile classic without further payment, except for reserved seats. Admission to the race alone, would cost $1 without the season ticket.

Admission to the grounds each day has been set at $.50. Children are free when tickets are obtained through their school departments on special community days. At other times, children pay .25. Grandstand prices except Monday and Saturday are $.25 and $.35 and $.50 for box seats. On Monday the grandstand and box seats will be free while on Saturday grand stand seats for the big auto race will be $2.20 and box seats $4.40. At night, all grandstand seats will be free. Box seats will cost $.25. A charge of $1 per car is to be made upon all cars parked inside the speedway oval during the auto race Saturday, plus war tax. General admission on Saturday will be $1.

Free parking space will be provided on the 25 acres adjoining the Fair Grounds at the southwest corner on Butler avenue. Visitors to the Fair should not be misled by private signs erected along Ventura avenue. Owing to congestion, cars cannot be parked inside the grounds. All deliveries must be made through the Butler avenue gate on the south side of the grounds. Entrance to the oval on Saturday is to be made through the subways on the east side of the grounds.

ESTATE IS APPRAISED

Inheritance tax of $108 is due on the estate of William E. Tabler, given a clear market value of $30,901.51, in a report filed yesterday in the superior court of Milton M. Denring, an inheritance tax appraiser. Heirs to the estate are two children.

Will Invite League To Meet in Fresno

Fresno city officials who attend the annual convention of the California League of Municipalities at Santa Monica next week will invite the league to hold its 1922 session in Fresno. Last year the convention was held in Chico, and as it goes to the southern part of the state this year, Fresno officials believe that it should come to the San Joaquin valley next year.

Among those who have already signified their intention of attending the session at Santa Monica are Mayor Truman G. Hart; Commissioners William Stranahan and Glen M. DeVore; Dr. C. Mathewson, city health officer; C. M. Lawrence, milk inspector; and R. Y. St. George, city clerk.

Foreign Flags Will Greet War Veterans

A delegation of a dozen soldiers of the nations in which the "Powder River" men served with the Wild Westerners and participate in ceremonies to take place at Exposition Park. Headed by Charles Gassion, a French army officer who was attached to Ninety-first Division headquarters, and is now living in Los Angeles, and carrying the flags of the nations the Ninety-first helped free from the grip of the Hun, they will occupy a place of honor in the procession.

The Red Cross is making a special appeal for women who will feel that they can give of their time to piece some quilts of material which will be furnished to them. A great demand exists for dark colored quilts for people going to the mountains.

The sale of gas stoves continues at the old store of the Red Cross at 1124 Broadway. Yesterday, at the Kern street store, members of the Fresno Chapter Order of Eastern Star made sales amounting to $27.55 and today the Auxiliary of American Legion will be in charge.

MAYOR HART RETURNS

Birds and Beasts Prepare For Winter

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The birds and beasts that live in the Bronx Zoo are preparing for an early and hard winter. Although they live in luxury and don't have to worry about where their next meal is coming from, they are instinctively hoarding up food.

All classes of animals scent a stiff winter, keepers say. The squirrels are putting in full days storing up unusually large quantities of nuts. The prairie dogs, a month ahead of time, are secreting lots of food into their underground homes. Robins and blackbirds are flocking together and showing unmistakable signs of preparing for migration to southern climes.

Chicago Plans Fire Prevention Day

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—October 9 will be the fiftieth anniversary of the date Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over the lantern causing the great Chicago fire, and the National Fire Protective Association has designated that day as International Fire Prevention day.

Since 1871 annual fire losses have been increasing until there is now an average annual monetary loss of $350,000,000 and an estimated loss of 15,000 lives yearly, according to the association.

The association is arranging for a nation-wide observance of the day to bring to the attention of the people that the fire loss is everybody's loss and everybody's responsibility and that the great majority of fires are preventable through the exercise of ordinary carefulness.

Hangman Indignant Over Insults

BUDAPEST, Sept. 1.—The hangman of Hungary has risen to indignant defense of his calling and denounced those who cast slurs upon it. He was prompted by sneering references made in the Hungarian National Assembly. Friends of former Emperor Charles and the anti-Hapsburgs are always quarreling there and in some cases have shouted at one another, "the hangman is your friend".

Michael Ball, the official hangman, has resented such slurs.

"My vocation," he writes to the president of the National Assembly, "is as honorable and useful as that of judges, lawyers, ministers or kings. Why should the old superstition hold in modern times that the hangman's profession is disgraceful, abominable and loathsome? My friends are all perfect gentlemen and any member of Parliament can consider it only flattery when he is called my friend."

Women's Knickers Become Popular

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The vogue for knickers for women in sports is increasing here, manufacturers and stylists report.

They may even prove more popular for women in driving motor cars about town and for those who take exercise by walking around the Central Park reservoir instead of galloping thereabouts arrayed in breeches and astride a horse.

But as for use by business women generally or for shopping trips here, as recently suggested in Chicago, it just isn't being done.

Use Sub Engine To Charge Batteries

PORTSMOUTH, N. H. Sept. 19.—Part of the equipment of the German submarine, U-111, a gasoline engine, is being used at the local navy yard to charge batteries for the American submarines.

SECOND SECTION — FRESNO, CALIFORNIA, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1921. — PAGES NINE TO SIXTEEN

STATE COLLEGE DEDICATED AT BIG CEREMONY

Senator M. B. Harris Is Speaker To Student Body

Tells of Purpose And Growth of Junior Colleges

"Today marks the beginning of a transitory period in educational matters throughout the State of California," declared Senator M. B. Harris in a dedicatory address before the students of the State College of Fresno yesterday.

"There were numerous bills relating to educational matters passed by the last legislature, but to my mind there are three that stand out from the others:—first, increased compensation for teachers; second, the new method of organization in Junior Colleges; and third, increased financial support. Under the new bills passed Junior Colleges can now be organized so that they can accomplish the work set before them in a more efficient manner. With adequate financial support they can be run in a thoroughly satisfactory manner and can be organized—and will be organized so that every boy and girl can get his or her first two years of college education at home or very close to it.

"In addition to the Junior College bill, the financial bill changes the Normal schools into regular Teachers Colleges which can look forward with confidence to the giving out of baccalaureate degrees.

"The education now offered in the two year course offered by Junior Colleges surpasses the education that many noted men were offered, as Thomas Jefferson, Alexander Hamilton and Chief Justice E. D. White, so far as attainment of knowledge is concerned.

"California is abreast with all the states in the United States in regard to the support offered by the legislature to the Junior Colleges. In fact since the passage of the many bills through last session of the legislature, California's Junior Colleges are far ahead of Junior Colleges in many of the states.

Origin in California.

"The origin of Junior Colleges came from California, in fact from Fresno some eleven years ago, so you can be proud of the fact that you are going to the State College of Fresno; as it is the combination of practically the first Junior College in the United States and the teachers college of Fresno."

"Will you get anything more out of the course than a certificate to teach? Yes, if you work hard enough it will make you to some extent what you will be in the hereafter I believe. It will help to form personality, which is the greatest thing on earth. You are now in a fluid state and can be moulded by your surroundings, and the people that you come in contact with. Later on in life when you reach my age you will have become rigid and then your habits and personality can't be moulded so easily. You are making a reputation for yourselves, and forming your personality, so its now or never if you look towards your future.

"Do you view life, merely for the salary that you will get out of it or for the good that you can do for your community. Nothing is worth doing for money that is not worth doing for itself and if you get paid for something that is not worth the doing, you are weakening yourself that much, losing some of your self respect and injuring yourselves. There is something more in this world than just the money that we get out of it.

Become Better Citizens.

"You folks are here to get wisdom. You can acquire knowledge but it can easily be forgotten. The truth of 100 years ago is the error of today. You can acquire knowledge for the moment only, but it is for wisdom that you come to school. Wisdom is the ultimate object in the world and is the sound appreciation of the things that come to you, combined with a habit of behavior, of justice, candor and fidelity to facts. The acquisition of justice, candor, fidelity to facts, wisdom, contact with other people give you an insight on all sides of a question. When you acquire these things you will be a better citizen because you will not be partisan nor narrow minded in your thinking.

"When you have acquired wisdom you are truly great, whether your name is in the newspapers or heralded on the streets it makes no difference. You can come to school to build a sound personality and for the pursuit of wisdom which as I said before are the greatest things on earth.

"We are living in a great valley of the San Joaquin and it is possible for us to build up and develop this valley to educational matters as well as in industrial matters by reason of our location, peculiar products and our climate. We can build up a civilization of culture in this valley that can't be surpassed."

In conclusion Senator Harris stated and outlined the possibilities before the Junior Colleges of the state especially the Fresno College and its opportunity of building up the San Joaquin valley. "No success in life," concluded Senator Harris, "is worth while unless it includes a sound personality and the pursuit of knowledge and wisdom. Culture and human liberty is that which makes this country what it is today and it rests on the students of today to build up a mental and personal atmosphere for higher human development."

M'Lane Gives Address.

Senator M. B. Harris was introduced to the students by President C. L. McLane, who told of the number of important steps that were taken in the development of the present institution. He spoke of the beginning of the first Junior College in 1910 with thirty some odd students. He spoke of the queer coincidence that the Junior College and the Teachers' College were now combined as they were when they were first organized.

President McLane told the students the history of the separation of the two colleges and then step by step until they were united as one again this year. The Normal school was organized in 1911 with a total number of students over 100, according to McLane. In 1912 the normal school moved to its present location into temporary buildings, then some five years ago moved into the present building.

President McLane welcomed the students saying among other things that he was glad to see so many boys present. He announced that an assembly would be held every Monday morning between the hours of 10 and 11. All students are expected to attend but will not be forced to. He expressed the hope that the assemblies would be interesting enough for all to attend.

All class organizations will be started new as all of the old was cancelled upon the reorganization of the college. There will be four classes, freshmen, sophomore, junior and senior. However, the freshmen are in the majority, he pointed out.

The use of phones was limited to emergency calls only, and the use of rooms for any purpose must be applied for in a routine manner at the office, he said.

A rule that ink must not be carried around the building except in fountain pens was laid down.

The swimming pool was opened yesterday for the first time this year.

Students were asked to make out their daily programs so that they could be filed in the office. It was announced that they must be correct and must be kept correct.

It was also announced that on alternating Mondays the students body would be in charge.

Mrs. Emma Mosow Fitch sang a group of songs, accompanied by Mrs. Romayne Hunkins.

At the close of the assembly President McLane turned the meeting over to the student body and Wilfred Hunkins was elected chairman pro-tem and Addie Walker was appointed temporary secretary by the chair. The joint constitution committee was instructed to have a report ready for the next meeting. The meeting was then adjourned until next Monday.

FAIL TO GET JURY TO TRY TONG LEADER

Box Filled Three Times; Many Challenges Exercised

Venire of 77 Almost Exhausted First Day

No jury was selected yesterday to try Lee Yick, on trial charged with murder in connection with the tong war outbreak in Fresno on June 7. Eleven men and one woman were passed temporarily to try the case after the jury box had filled three times. None were finally passed.

Eight prospective jurors were excused for cause, the prosecution exercised four of the ten challenges allowed and the defense three of the twenty challenges allowed them. The venire of 77 which was drawn by Judge S. L. Strother to try the case, is almost exhausted. There are but six left to fill out any places in the jury, which may be left by challenge. The jury will robably be selected today, it was announced.

In examining the jury for acceptance, District Attorney B. W. Gearhart and O. L. Everts, who has been retained by the family of murdered Fook Kee to assist in the prosecution, laid particular stress upon the fact that they did not wish to accept any juryman who had any scruples against inflicting the death penalty in case of a guilty verdict.

Yick is said to be the vice president and military chieftain of the Suey On tong. It is he, the prosecution contends, who gave the orders to fellow members of the Suey On tong to kill certain members of the Bing Kong tong. As the result of these alleged orders, Fook Kee was murdered and two other were wounded. Six were arrested and indicted for the murder.

Wong Toy, one of the indicted Chinese, was recently convicted and sentenced to hank for the murder of Fook Kee. He was found guilty of the murder of the aged Chinese. Tom Ham, Lee Lim and Yee Lee are charged with murder although it is not known that their bullets resulted in the death of any man. They did, it is charged, fire shots which resulted in the wounding of two spectators to the Kee murder. Lee Yick is on trial for aiding and abetting in the murder in that he gave the orders for the killing.

The defense, which is being conducted by M. K. Harris, Herbert McDowell and R. G. Retallick, will probably offer testimony at the trial tending to show that Yick was not at the scene of the crime at the time of the shooting and will produce witnesses to testify that they were in China Alley at the time of the murder. These witnesses, it is believed, will testify that Yick did not give any orders for the killing.

At the conclusion of the Yick case, Wong Gim and Sing Hing, charged with the murder of Ah Wah in Fowler recently, will be put on trial before Judge C. E. Beaumont. The case now on trial will probably be completed by Saturday.

Pets Entered At Big Fair

Pedigreed dogs in Fresno are eligible to be entered in the Dog Show that is to be held at the Fresno District Fair next week. Already nearly one hundred entries have been received by Director H. G. Sanders. Practically every breed of a canine is entered, though in the "toy dog" class the entry list is small. A large number of local young society women have interested themselves in the Dog Show and have entered their pets. In other communities, Dog Shows are fostered by the society people of the community.

The young women and their pets in the pictures are: No. 1—Martha Prescott with English bull; No. 2—Isabel Stanley with Airdale; No. 3—Blanche Barton with Pekingese; No. 4—Dureas Williams with Boston terrier; No. 5—Alice Clark with English bull.

Society Belles with their pets which they are entering in the Dog Show to be held in conjunction with the Fresno District Fair which opens next Monday. Fresnans possess some of best pedigreed dogs in the state. Nearly 100 animals have been entered.

MAN IS FOUND BADLY INJURED

Police Are Investigating Mystery Case

How James F. Carlston, proprietor of a grocery store and filling station at 2350 Railroad avenue, incurred concussion of the brain and a deep wound above the left temple Sunday night is a mystery at police headquarters.

The injured man was found in a bloody bed at his residence yesterday morning, and was taken to the emergency hospital where Dr. C. M. Vanderbrush temporarily dressed his wounds. He is now in Burnett sanitarium.

When Sergeant R. A. Wickstrom and officer Bates called on him in his Railroad avenue residence yesterday morning, Carlston stated he had been hit over the head and robbed of $20. Subsequent investigation revealed money in his clothing and the store's cash register.

Four empty lemon extract bottles and some soda were found in Carlston's bed-room. Officers said. Neighbors state Carlston closed his business establishment shortly after 8 o'clock Sunday night. He usually closes up at 11 p. m., they say.

Inspectors Linkous and Truesdell are investigating the case.

IS GIVEN SENTENCE.

J. W. Fisher, charged with stealing an automobile valued at $45, was given a five-day jail sentence by Judge George B. Graham yesterday.

Many Entries For Dog Show

85 Pedigreed Animals Already Entered

Many Trophies Are Offered

Entries for the Dog Show at the Fresno District Fair are pouring into the office of Director H. G. Sanders. Last night the number of pedigreed dogs entered had totaled 85 and the list of trophies and other special prizes donated by interested citizens of town had totaled nearly 15.

The animals entered yesterday included several Airedales, Irish Setters, French Bull Dogs and Russian Wolf Hounds. A trophy was donated by the Ervin Rubber company. Frank Reedy donated two collars for the best two greyhounds in the show.

Entries are to be received by Sanders at the Secre Electric Shop at Broadway and Mayfair streets. Those telephoning their entries may obtain Sanders at 711. Entries sent in by mail, should include pedigree of dog, name and age and the name and address of the owner.

The Dog Show will be held on two or more days during the week. Two days determined on to hold the show, will be Thursday and Friday. It is possible that the show will be opened Wednesday. Entries will close Monday, according to Sanders.

A meeting of all dog fanciers in Fresno is to be held at the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock when arrangements will be held of the procedure necessary to form a local council club that will be eligible to join the American Kennel Association. At this time a club will be permanently organized and discussion of the coming Dog Show will be held.

The name for the Dog Show was named by Manager H. E. Patterson of the Fair. He is E. L. Rowdritch of San Francisco.

Clear Weather Dispels Gloom Among Growers

Anxiety among growers of raisins throughout the San Joaquin valley passed yesterday with the announcement from the weather bureau that the storm which had threatened the valley for several days has passed up the coast, leaving clear weather for this district.

During the threatening period the California Associated Raisin company was in touch with the weather department continuously and maintained a full weather report and warning service for its growers. According to L. R. Payne the raisin industry of the valley suffered no damage from the slight rainfall of Saturday night.

McKenna Elected To Veterinarian's Office

Fresno was honored last week at Denver by the election of Dr. John F. McKenna as one of the national officers of the American Veterinary Medical association. Dr. McKenna is just back from the convention, at which were present representatives of the veterinary medicine profession from all parts of the country.

Dr. A. T. Kingsley, of Kansas City, was elected president; Dr. G. C. Lamby of Denver, first vice president, and Dr. John F. McKenna, of Fresno, second vice president.

The convention was one of the most successful ever held, said Dr. McKenna yesterday.

EASTON W. C. T. U. TO MEET.

The Easton W. C. T. U. will meet on Wednesday, September 21, at the United Presbyterian church at 2:30. The reports of the recent national convention held in San Francisco, will be given, also the plans for the fall convention which will be held by Fresno members 23 to 29, at the First Christian church. All women are cordially invited.

GRAND JURY IS TO BE ASKED TO PROBE FIRES

Commission Plans To Trace Origin Of Blazes

Names To Be Secret While Investigation Goes On

The city fire commission yesterday directed its secretary to write the district attorney, B. W. Gearhart, asking him to bring to the attention of the grand jury certain recent fires with the purpose of having the grand jury investigate the circumstances surrounding their origin. The press was asked to refrain from mentioning the names of persons connected during the meeting of the commission with fires which are to be investigated.

This is the beginning of a campaign by the commission to follow up its own investigations with requests for action by the district attorney's office where the commission's probe seems to warrant further investigation.

Upon motion of Commissioner W. E. Simpson, the board voted to recommend to the city commission the passage of the new fire bureau ordinance. The text of the ordinance was recently submitted to Chief Stevens of the Pacific Coast Board of Fire Underwriters. His only important suggestion was that the ordinance should give the fire marshal more direct powers.

Simpson pointed out that the fire ordinance places upon the fire marshal the responsibility for enforcing all fire ordinances and ordinances relating to fire prevention.

Favor Convention.

The board decided to "informally" convey to the mayor its approval of the fire chief being sent to conventions at Victoria, British Columbia, and Atlanta, Ga. On account of the cost involved and the fact that the fire commission had no precedent, members agreed that it would not formally pass a motion, but would leave the mayor free to act on the matter when it comes before the city commission. The trip, it is estimated, will cost approximately $500.

City Electrician Stitt reported to the board that plans for the central fire alarm station are ready for the approval of the underwriters, and that an inspector is expected here this week to go over the specifications. The building will stand at the intersection of Howard, Divisadero and Fresno streets, upon a triangular piece of property owned by the city. Stitt estimates that the building will cost about $25,000. He told the board that his plans provide for two generators, one to be connected to a gas engine and one to an electric motor. This double power provision, he explained, would make the fire alarm system independent of the power company in case of accident or strikes affecting the power company.

Commissioner Strauhan brought to the board meeting a handful of "doctored" fuses which had been found by electrical inspectors. These fuses are doctored by replacing the slender wire with a heavy wire that carries a much heavier load of power. They are said to be a very serious fire menace.

Farm Bureau Will Hold Hog Auction

The Farm Bureau Marketing Association will hold its next semi-monthly hog auction at the Southern Pacific stock yards Friday. A goodly number of hogs has been listed. It is planned by the bureau to continue the bi-monthly sales through the fall and winter, but one of the sales will be held outside of Fresno, possibly at San Joaquin.

Grain

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—Official announcement that August exports of wheat and flour were way above estimates had a bullish effect today on wheat. Prices closed firm, 1¾ to 2¾c net higher with December $1.27¾ to $1.28 and May $1.31¾ to $1.32. Corn finished 2 shade to half up, oats off ¼ @¾ to ⅝ and provisions varying from 10c decline to 17 cents advance.
Bulls figured that after September 30, the exportable surplus of United States, wheat if a normal carry over is allowed for, will be near exhaustion.
Wet weather in the northwest counted likewise as a bullish factor. On the other hand, profit taking sales on the advance were heavy, and an increase of 4,049,000 bushels in the United States visible supply caused a bear drive on prices after midday. Support from bull leaders, however, was quickly forthcoming, and shorts were covering freely at the last.
Corn averaged higher in sympathy with wheat.
Oats though tended downward, largely as a result of the liberal stock in sight. Higher quotations on hogs, together with the big shipment of lard and meats, put considerable firmness in provisions.
Close:
Wheat—December, $1.27¾; May, $1.31½.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Concerted opposition to the recent recovery in the stock market was reflected in the reactionary course of today's trading prices were barely steady at the outset, irregular at midday and heavy in the final hour, when offerings were most extensive.
News and other developments contributed to these unstable conditions. Railroad centers reported another marked decrease of idle freight cars, but more wage reductions and curtailed production were announced in various lines of industry.
A cut in the guaranty trust company's dividend and the more pressing financial requirements of secondary specialties, notably food products, also provided the shorts with fresh ammunition.
Money rates remained easy, however. On the exchange the five per cent opening quotation for call loans soon fell to 4½.
Bull pools resumed their campaign with U. S. Steel as the leader and an early gain of almost two points. Associated issues rose almost to like extent with oils, motors and their accessories and a few specialties.
When it became evident that the rise lacked public support the market gradually reacted. Equipments, oils, motors, and coals shares were most vulnerable, falling one to four points under last week's closing quotations. Baldwin and American Locomotives, General Electric Petroleum, General Asphalt and Crucible steel were weakest and United States Steel cancelled its gain. Sales 575,000 shares. Sterling was the only important foreign remittance to hold fairly steady, French, Italian, Belgian and Dutch bills receding three to six points and marks losing eight points.
Liberty issues again dominated the bond market, the second 4's displayed marked strength. Other domestic bonds hardened, but internationals were irregular. Total sales, par value, aggregated $18,425,000.

KELLY SPRINGFIELD TIRES
WE have seldom indulged in superlatives. Kelly quality has been so well established that it hasn't been necessary. Today, Kellys are better than ever, but their price has been materially lowered. Exhaustion of war-priced material and economies made possible in the new Cumberland Plant have brought down costs and this saving is being passed along to the user.
Now you can buy Kellys for the same prices you will have to pay for other tires that have always sold for less.
Kelly Cords are made in two types: the Kant-Slip Tread which offers a resistance to wet, slippery streets that makes skidding next to impossible, and the sturdy Block and Button Tread. Both are long mileage tires and sell for the same price.

SEEK MOTORIST FOR KILLING OF KINGSBURG MAN

C. O. Johnson Fatally Hurt; Driver Makes Escape

Motometer, Hat And Cane Only Clues To Mystery

Special to The Republican

KINGSBURG, Sept. 19.—Struck down by a motorist who sped away without stopping to [illegible] aid, C. O. Johnson, aged local resident for many years, was fatally injured here near the intersection of Draper and Smith streets early this morning. He died a few minutes later while being rushed to a local hospital. Up to tonight no trace of the offending driver had been found.

Johnson was on his way to the Kingsburg bank where he acts as janitor early this morning when the accident occurred. Nightwatchmen Haddigan and Newman, who were stationed near the postoffice building, heard the crash and hurrying to the corner found the old man dying. He was beyond giving any accurate description of the car that caused his death, and died shortly afterward while being taken to the hospital in a Fresno bread wagon.

The only clues found and established are a broken motometer bearing the initials "W. C. B." evidently carved by the owner of the car with a knife. Johnson's cane which was found about 10 feet from where he was found, and his hat which was found about 200 feet south on Draper street. Following the accident a car was seen driving towards Dinuba, but no definite connection with the tragedy could be established.

Johnson leaves a widow and several small children.

Coroner John Lisle of Fresno will probably hold an inquest tomorrow, while Deputy Sheriff Al Blasingame of Fresno has been aiding efforts of local officers today in tracing down the unidentified driver of the car.

FIRE DESTROYS OIL COOKHOUSE

$9000 Loss Reported At Coalinga

COALINGA, Sept. 19.—Damage estimated by company officials at between $8000 and $9000 was done by fire early yesterday morning when the Pacific Oil Company cookhouse on Section 25 was completely destroyed. The blaze started from an unknown cause and burned the building to the ground before anything could be done other than to save neighboring houses. Fortunately no wind was blowing at the time of the blaze so the flames were not blown to the adjoining company office building or other dwellings in the neighborhood.

The section 25 cookhouse was one of the largest and most completely outfitted in the Coalinga oil fields. It had but recently been improved by the addition of beaver board walls, an electrical cooling system and other improvements. Owing to the strike but about 30 or 40 men are being fed at the camp so the culinary staff and equipment has been installed temporarily in one of the company's other buildings.

FUNERAL HELD FOR PIONEER

Early Settler of State Laid At Rest

EASTON, Sept. 19—The funeral of Moses H. Bixby, one of the first settlers of Washington colony, was held from the Methodist church at Easton Saturday, Rev. N. J. Burton, assisted by Rev. R. B. Wilkins and Rev. O. W. Ostrom, officating.

Mr. Bixby was born in Burlington, Vermont, March 5, 1846, and died in San Diego, September 12, 1921, aged 76 years, 6 months, and 7 days. At an early age he became an orphan and was "bound out" suffering many hardships and abuses.

On February 9, 1871, he was united in marriage to Rachel E. Fulton of Illinois. Four children were born to this union, all of whom with the exception of Kenneth M. who died in 1885, were present at his funeral. They are Mrs. Blanche R. Hunt, Albert H. and Guy C. Bixby.

Immediately after his marriage he moved to Iowa where he lived for a number of years. In 1873 he immigrated to California settling in Alpine county where he lived until 1878. During his residence in that county he twice suffered heavy losses, once from fire and again by the failure of a bank, in which his savings were deposited.

In 1878 he came to Washington colony, then recently opened to settlers, and purchased the ranch which has ever since been his home. From the time he came to the colony, Mr. Bixby as been regarded as one of its most active and constructive citizens, his every move being for the betterment of the community.

To Mr. Bixby is due in a great measure the formation of the Raisin and Peach associations of this section, for he believed strongly in cooperative associations among the farmers and gave generously to their support.

Mr. Bixby was one of the founders of the Methodist Episcopal church of Easton, constructing its present building without any financial reward. As a resident of the community he will long be remembered for the help and encouragement he has always given to new settlers.

Since the death of his wife in 1914, he has spent the greater part of his time in San Diego.

SELMA SCHOOL OVERCROWDED

460 Students Attend High School

SELMA, Sept. 19.—After one week of school the faculty of the Selma union high school finds itself in a terribly overcrowded condition with matters groking worse every day.

The enrollment to date has approximated 460 students, the largest enrollment in the history of a school, and an enrollment of an additional hundred students during the next few weeks is anticipated. With this growth the school will be nearly 25 per cent larger than last year. The Selma high school enrollment this year exceeds that of Tulare high school and of every other high school in the valley with the exception of Bakersfield and Fresno and possibly Visalia. Coalinga's enrollment has fallen off this year.

Congested conditions which were very bad last year are worse this year, according to members of the high school faculty and it is only with extreme difficulty that the classes are being found accommodations. The loan of two rooms of the Garfield school near the high school has been obtained temporarily from the grammar school board.

The congested conditions, which feature the opening of high school this year are impressing strongly upon the parents of the children attending the necessity for more adequate quarters and regrets are being freely expressed on all sides that the high school bond election called two years ago for the purpose of getting new high school buildings was not successful.

Grain

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—Official announcement that August exports of wheat and flour were way above estimates had a bullish effect today on wheat. Prices closed firm, 1¾ to 3¾c nit higher, with December $1.27⅝ to $1.28 and May $1.31½ to $1.32. Corn finished a shade to half up, oats off ⅛ @¼ to ⅝, and provisions varying from 10c decline to 17 cents advance.
Bulls figured that after September 30, the exportable surplus of United States wheat if a normal carry over is allowed for, will be near exhaustion.
Wet weather in the northwest counted likewise as a bullish factor. On the other hand, profit taking sales on the advance were heavy, and an increase of 4,049,000 bushels in the United States visible supply caused a bear drive on prices after midday. Support from bull leaders, however, was quickly forthcoming, and shorts were covering freely at the last.
Corn averaged higher in sympathy with wheat.
Oats though tended downward, largely as a result of the liberal stock in sight. Higher quotations on hogs, together with the big shipment of lard and meats, put considerable firmness in provisions.
Close:
Wheat—December, $1.27½; May, $1.31½.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Concerted opposition to the recent recovery in the stock market was reflected in the rudimentary course of today's trading prices were barely steady at the outset, irregular at midday and heavy in the final hour, when offerings were most extensive.
News and other developments contributed to these unstable conditions. Railroad centers reported another marked decrease of idle freight cars, but more wage reductions and curtailed production were announced in various lines of industry.
A cut in the guaranty trust company's dividend and the more pressing financial requirements of secondary specialties, notably food products, also provided the shorts with fresh ammunition.
Money rates remained easy, however. On the exchange the five per cent opening quotation for call loans soon fell to 4½.
Bull pools resumed their campaign with U. S. Steel as the leader at an early gain of almost two points. Associated issues rose almost to like extent with oils, motors and their accessories and a few specialties.
When it became evident that the rise lacked public support the market gradually reacted. Equipments, oils, motors, and coals shares were most vulnerable, falling one to four points under last week's closing quotations. Baldwin and American Locomotives, General Electric Petroleum, General Asphalt and Crucible steel were weakest and United States Steel cancelled its gain. Sales 576,000 shares. Sterling was the only important foreign remittance to hold fairly steady. French, Italian, Belgian, and Dutch bills reacting three to six points and marks losing eight points.
Liberty issues again dominated the bond market, the second 4's displayed marked strength. Other domestic bonds hardened, but internationals were irregular. Total sales, par value, aggregated $18,438,000.

KELLY SPRINGFIELD TIRES
WE have seldom indulged in superlatives. Kelly quality has been so well established that it hasn't been necessary. Today Kellys are better than ever, but their price has been materially lowered. Exhaustion of war-priced material and economies made possible in the new Cumberland Plant have brought down costs and this saving is being passed along to the user.
Now you can buy Kellys for the same prices you will have to pay for other tires that have always sold for less.
Kelly Cords are made in two types: the Kant-Slip Tread which offers a resistance to wet, slippery streets that makes skidding next to impossible, and the sturdy Block and Button Tread. Both are long mileage tires and sell for the same price.

SEEK MOTORIST FOR KILLING OF KINGSBURG MAN

C. O. Johnson Fatally Hurt; Driver Makes Escape

Motometer, Hat And Cane Only Clues To Mystery

Special to The Republican

KINGSBURG, Sept. 19.—Struck down by a motorist who sped away without stopping to give aid, C. O. Johnson, aged local resident for many years, was fatally injured here near the intersection of Draper and Smith streets early this morning. He died a few minutes later while being rushed to a local hospital. Up to tonight no trace of the offending driver had been found.

Johnson was on his way to the Kingsburg Bank where he acts as janitor early this morning when the accident occurred. Nightwatchmen Haddigan and Newman, who were stationed near the postoffice building, heard the crash and hurrying to the corner found the old man dying. He was beyond giving any accurate description of the car that caused his death, and died shortly afterward while being taken to the hospital in a Fresno bread wagon.

The only clues found and established are a broken motometer bearing the initials "W. C. B." evidently carved by the owner of the car with a knife, Johnson's cane which was found about 10 feet from where he was found, and his hat which was found about 200 feet south on Draper street. Following the accident a car was seen driving towards Dinuba, but no definite connection with the tragedy could be established.

Johnson leaves a widow and several small children.

Coroner John Lisle of Fresno will probably hold an inquest tomorrow, while Deputy Sheriff Al Blasingame of Fresno has been aiding efforts of local officers today in tracing down the unidentified driver of the car.

FIRE DESTROYS OIL COOKHOUSE

$9000 Loss Reported At Coalinga

COALINGA, Sept. 19.—Damage estimated by company officials at between $8000 and $9000 was done by fire early yesterday morning when the Pacific Oil Company cookhouse on Section 25 was completely destroyed. The blaze started from an unknown cause and burned the building to the ground before anything could be done other than to save neighboring houses. Fortunately no wind was blowing at the time of the blaze so the flames were not blown to the adjoining company office building or other dwellings in the neighborhood.

The section 25 cookhouse was one of the largest and most completely outfitted in the Coalinga oil fields. It had but recently been improved by the addition of beaver board walls, an electrical cooling system and other improvements. Owing to the strike but about 30 or 40 men are being fed at the camp so the culinary staff and equipment has been installed temporarily in one of the company's other buildings.

FUNERAL HELD FOR PIONEER

Early Settler of State Laid At Rest

EASTON, Sept. 19.—The funeral of Moses H. Bixby, one of the first settlers of Washington colony, was held from the Methodist church at Easton Saturday, Rev. N. J. Burton, assisted by Rev. R. H. Wilkins and Rev. O. W. Ostrom, officiating.

Mr. Bixby was born in Burlington, Vermont, March 5, 1836, and died in San Diego, September 12, 1921, aged 75 years, 6 months, and 7 days. At an early age he became an orphan and was "bound out" suffering many hardships and abuses.

On February 9, 1871, he was united in marriage to Rachel K. Fulton of Illinois. Four children were born to this union, all of whom with the exception of Kenneth M. who died in 1885, were present at his funeral. They are Mrs. Blanche R. Hunt, Albert H. and Guy C. Bixby.

Immediately after his marriage he moved to Iowa where he lived for a number of years. In 1873 he immigrated to California settling in Alpine county where he lived until 1878. During his residence in that county he twice suffered heavy losses, once from fire and again by the failure of a bank in which his savings were deposited.

In 1878 he came to Washington colony, then recently opened to settlers, and purchased the ranch which has ever since been his home. From the time he came to the colony, Mr. Bixby as been regarded as one of its most active and constructive citizens, his every move being for the betterment of the community.

To Mr. Bixby is due in a great measure the formation of the Raisin and Peach associations of this section, for he labored strongly in cooperative associations among the farmers and gave generously to their support.

Mr. Bixby was one of the founders of the Methodist Episcopal church of Easton, constructing its present building without any financial reward. As a resident of the community he will long be remembered for the help and encouragement he has always given to new settlers.

Since the death of his wife in 1914, he has spent the greater part of his time in San Diego.

The enrollment to date has approximated 460 students, the largest enrollment in the history of a school, and an enrollment of an additional hundred students during the next few weeks is anticipated. With this growth the school will be nearly 25 per cent larger than last year. The Selma high school enrollment this year exceeds that of Tulare high school and of every other high school in the valley with the exception of Bakersfield and Fresno and possibly Visalia. Coalinga's enrollment has fallen off this year.

Congested conditions which were very bad last year are worse this year, according to members of the high school faculty and it is only with extreme difficulty that the classes are being found accommodations. The loan of two rooms of the Garfield school near the high school has been obtained temporarily from the grammar school board.

The congested conditions, which feature the opening of high school this year are impressing strongly upon the parents of the children attending the necessity for more adequate quarters and regrets are being freely expressed on all sides that the high school bond election called two years ago for the purpose of getting new high school buildings, was not successful.

SATURDAY'S GAME IS FINAL CLASH IN CITY SERIES

Giffen-Wilfe And Sun Maids Ready for Battle

Heavy plans are being made by both the Giffen-Wolfe and Sun Maids for the final game, which settle the city championship, next Saturday afternoon. As both teams have lost two games during the series, one more game will eliminate either one and leave the other in possession of the championship.

In the elimination process, up to date, the Giffen-Wolfe team have played the final elimination with both the Post Office, and the Graffs team, but suffered two defeats at the hands of the Sun Maids, at the same time, humbled the Sun Maids on another occasion.

All three games between the two teams have been close and well fought, both teams having two pitchers, and each an ace. Jacobsen performing in the series for the Sun Maids, while Shephard has won many fast games of the season for the Wolves.

Daniels of the Wolves has won many games for his team this season and the same can be said of Leatherby of the Sun Maids, who won ten straight games before losing one this season.

It can be taken almost as a foregone conclusion that Shephard and Jacobsen will be started for the final contest on Saturday, both pitchers are in top form and a great deal hinges on their performances Saturday.

Jacobsen first came into prominence two years ago, when he pitched for the Fresno Reds in one of the city Twilight Leagues. He pitched a wonderful game throughout the season and was considered the baseball fine of the season. Since that he has been steadily increasing in baseball qualities and has pitched some wonderful games, for so young a pitcher, he is strong and naturally inclined towards the game. Last year he came to the city from ten miles out in the country, after doing a day's work on the ranch, which gives some idea of how anxious he is to play the game.

Shephard has had some high-class baseball experience, and it would be interesting to some of the Fresno fans to know that he was at one time connected with the St. Louis Browns, one must not get from that, that he is an old timer, and a discard, because that is just what he is not. To the contrary he is one of the snappiest, most aggressive baseball men that has hit this section in some time. Connected with his fiery fast playing he has a cool steady head, and is a fighter to the last ditch.

Both Shephard and Jake are heavy batters and the fans always expect a great deal of them, even when they re pitching heavy ball. Both have registered their name in the home run column this year with long heavy swats.

HUNTERS RETURN FROM EXTENDED MOUNTAIN TRIP

A seventeen day hunting trip has just been completed by four hunters three from this city and one from Lemon Cove. The party left here on September 1, going to Hospital Rock on the middle fork of the Kaweah river, using a pack train from there on. Almost the entire trip was spent above the 8,000 foot level.

The party consisted of W. A. Sunderland, Dr. Harry J. Craycroft, Arthur Goodfellow, and Orval Overall. Good fishing and fairly good hunting was reported by the hunters, who not only tried their hand at hunting but attempted to catch some of the elusive mountain trout.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—A batting rally in the eighth inning netting eight runs, enabled Detroit to defeat New York today 10 to 6, thereby going back to second place again. Detroit hit New York's three leading pitchers, Mays, Shawkey and Hoyt, for seven hits in the eighth inning. Mays was taken out after he forced in a run. A muff at the plate by Schang let in the next two and Detroit drove in five more off Shawkey and Hoyt on bunched hitting. Ruth failed to hit in five times at bat.

THREE FRESNO SPEED DEMONS ENTER CLASSIC

HANFORD, Sept. 19.—Entries received for the automobile race meet to be held Saturday, Sept. 24, as the concluding sport feature of the annual Kings County Fair indicate that it will soon be possible to stage a "San Joaquin Valley car" race that will be a dandy. The building of the race track at Hanford three years ago developed enough racing spirit in Kings County to make possible an annual "Kings County Classic", and this event is to be featured on Friday afternoon, September 23.

But the free-for-all scheduled for the 24th has brought out a big entry list of "valley cars." From Fresno are coming Sam Whiting, with a Hudson Special, Fred Lyon with a Dodge Special, and George Miller with a Chevrolet Special; Howard Sinclair and Roy Taylor are bringing a fast Ford Special from Selma; Spear & Verkyul are entering the "Whippet Special" from Visalia; George Dryden of East Bakersfield is bringing a Stutz. These, with the Kings County cars, entered by Vic Tandy, E. J. Murray, Fred Funchess and Frank Armi of Hanford and Tom Williams of Armona, make up a pretty likely list of valley cars.

Other entries made for the fair week classic include Eddie Meyer of Redlands, Ed Winfield of Glendale, Whyte Womack of Los Angeles, Fred Frame and Omar Toft of Pasadena, E. J. Bello and Jess Coe, Santa Maria; Ed Kaster, Sacramento; Ross Hooper and Mie Moosie, San Francisco. This list may yet be lengthened by entries which have been mailed, but not yet received.

TILDEN ATTAINS CHAMPIONSHIP IN TENNIS SINGLES

Beats Johnson In Fast Match

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19.—William T. Tilden II, winner of the national singles tennis championship last year, again won the title today. He defeated Wallace F. Johnson, also of this city, 6-1, 6-3, 6-1, in the final round of the fortieth annual championship singles tournament of the United States Tennis Association in 43 minutes, said to be a record.

The speed and accuracy of Tilden's service and return strokes so dazzled and smothered Johnson that the challenger was placed in such a defensive position that he never appeared to have a fighting chance.

Tilden now has two legs on the championship trophy, placing him on a level with Maurice E. McLoughlin, who won in 1912 and 1915; R. Norris Williams, winner in 1914 and 1916 and William M. Johnston holder in 1919 and 1919.

Against Tilden's bombardment of speedy returns Johnson was almost helpless. Many of the shots tore past him with such speed he could not put his racquet on them; others were placed in accessible corners. Johnson's chopped and undercut returns were futile and he piled up many errors.

Tilden earned 75 points to Johnson's four.

"LEFTY" HOLVIN IS BOUGHT BY CHICAGO CUBS

Special to The Republican

MODESTO, Calif., Sept. 19.—Walter "Lefty" Golvin, ranked as the best first baseman in the Southern Association, has been sold to the Chicago Cubs, according to the Modesto boy's father, G. H. Golvin, received here today.

He will report to the Cubs for spring training, undoubtedly in Southern California. The purchase price was not mentioned in the telegram.

"Lefty" closed the season with Mobile yesterday. His 1921 record with a tailend club, the Southern Association, is considered excellent; in fact, so good that the three National League clubs were bidding for his services. It was rumored several weeks ago that Brooklyn was after Golvin and had offered $10,000 for him. Later the Philadelphia Nationals put in a bid and it was announced that Golvin would report to the Phillies at the close of the Southern Association season. Yesterday's wire merely announced his sale to Chicago and stated that Golvin would return to his home here within the coming week.

The deal for Golvin's sale to Chicago was negotiated while the president of the Mobile club visited the East several weeks ago. While the purchase price has not been made public, it is believed Chicago paid at least $10,000 for his services.

WOULD PROBE TEXT BOOKS

Japs Ask Examination Of School Books

TOKYO, Aug. 7.—(By Mail.)—Formation of a committee which would submit school text books to a critical examination with a view to rooting out sources of international prejudices, ignorance and hatred, is recommended by a representative group of Japanese peace workers. This is the group that recently urged upon the Council of the League of Nations the convening of an international education council to promote true friendship between nations.

"It is needless to point out," said the group in its proposal sent to Geneva; "that the object of the League of Nations is prevention of war, and that this object can possibly be attained only by the constant promotion of all the organized influences making for international justice.

"There are, broadly speaking, two such influences—economic and cultural. The one, the economic influence, has already begun to be enlisted for the purpose by such means as the international labor council.

"The other, the organization of cultural influence, is sadly neglected. No peace can last without cultural bases without the rational co-ordination that will do away with ignorance and prejudice.

"But as we look critically into the prevailing education in each nation we see all sorts of old prejudice still wittingly or unwittingly inculcated into innocent souls. The education of people, we dare say, is till predominantly influenced by national egotism. So long as this egotism is allowed to persist, all other efforts towards peace and understanding, we are afraid, will be of no permanent value.

"We cannot, therefore, too strongly insist that without an international organization of educational influences which shall effectively counteract all the hidden forces tending toward imperialism and militarism, no League of Nations can possibly attain its object.

"It is from such consideration that we hereby humbly submit the proposal for an early convocation of an international education council."

Applause For Actors— Worrying Managers

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The impulse of theatergoers to applaud actors as they step out from the wings each night is worrying Broadway. One manager has included in the program a request that the audience break itself of the habit.

The custom began with the greetings which star worshipers always extend on the first appearance of leading actors. Spurred on, skeptics aver, by complimentary tickets, the custom spread to lesser mortals. The last straw came the other night when tumultuous applause interrupted a performance on the appearance of a minor character, whose only assignment was to announce that the coach and pair are ready, sir.

Turkish Women Without Perfume

ANGORA, Aug. 22.—(By Mail.) One of the womanly war tragedies her in the lack of perfumes. Turkish women preserve their beauty by frequent bathing, the use of oil perfumes after the bath and the drinking of buttermilk by the quart.

The war has reduced the manufacture of home-made perfumes and the Nationalist government has forbidden the importation of foreign perfumes under the head of luxuries. To make the best of a bad situation, the women have increased their consumption of buttermilk.
